

Genres of the Credit Economy

Mediating Value in Eighteenth- and Nineteenth-Century Britain

MARY POOVEY

The University of Chicago Press
Chicago and London

C

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments / ix

INTRODUCTION / 1

PREAMBLE : MEDIATING GENRES / 25

Imaginative Genres / 28

Financial Writing / 30

Monetary Genres / 35

ONE : MEDIATING VALUE / 57

Writing about Money in the New Credit Economy / 61

The Fact/Fiction Continuum / 77

TWO : GENERIC DIFFERENTIATION AND THE NATURALIZATION OF MONEY / 87

Inciting Belief through Print / 93

Sir James Steuart's Principles of Political Economy: Between Fiction and Theory / 124

Money Talks: Thomas Bridges's Adventures of a Bank-Note / 144

INTERCHAPTER ONE : "THE PAPER AGE" / 153

The Takeoff in the Book Trade / 156

The Proliferation of Bank Paper / 161

Differential Forms / 165

THREE : POLITICIZING PAPER MONEY / 171

The First Currency Radical: William Cobbett Pits Paper against Gold / 174
Labor Notes and a Coinage of Pottery: Robert Owen and John Bray / 196

FOUR : PROFESSIONAL POLITICAL ECONOMY AND ITS POPULARIZERS / 219

Raising the Profile of Economic Theory: Ricardo, McCulloch,
Chalmers, and John Stuart Mill / 223
Financial Journalism: Economic Writing for Middle-Class Readers / 243
W. Stanley Jevons and the Narrowing of Economic Science / 275

FIVE : DELIMITING LITERATURE, DEFINING LITERARY VALUE / 285

Literary Value and a Hierarchy of Imaginative Genres / 287
Hierarchies of Reading / 305
Facts, Fictions, and Literary Value / 317

INTERCHAPTER TWO : TEXTUAL INTERPRETATION AND HISTORICAL DESCRIPTION / 337

Reading Martineau's Illustrations of Political Economy:
Exemplary Interpretations / 338
Historical Description / 343

SIX : LITERARY APPROPRIATIONS / 353

Jane Austen's Gestural Aesthetic / 357
From Gesture to Formalism: Little Dorrit and Silas Marner / 373
The Rewards of Form: The Last Chronicle of Barset / 384

CODA / 417

Notes / 421
Bibliography / 465
Index / 485