

New Systems Theories of World Politics

Edited by

Mathias Albert

Professor of Political Science, Bielefeld University, Germany

Lars-Erik Cederman

Professor of International Conflict Research, ETH Zurich, Switzerland

and

Alexander Wendt

Professor of Political Science, Ohio State University, USA

macmillan

Contents

List of Tables and Figures	vii
Acknowledgments	viii
Notes on the Contributors	ix
Part I Conceptual Overview
1 Introduction: Systems Theorizing in IR Mathias Albert and Lars-Erik Cedennan	3
2 Systems Theory beyond Explaining and Understanding Oliver Kessler and Friedrich Kratochwil	23
Part II 'Modern' Systems Theory
3 Modern Systems Theory and World Politics Mathias Albert	43
4 Modern Systems Theory and/as Historical Discourse Analysis Hans-Martin Jaeger	69
Part III Process-Theoretical Approaches
5 Relationalism and New Systems' Theory Daniel Nexon	99
6 Complexity and Change in World Politics: Resurrecting Systems Theory Lars-Erik Cedennan	127
7 Understanding System Dynamics: Simple Models of Complexity Bear F. Braumoeller	158
Part IV Analyses of Macrohistorical Processes
8 The English School as a New Systems Theory of World Politics ' Barry Buzan	195
9 Differentiation, Rationalization, and Actorhood in New Systems and World Culture Theories George M. Thomas	220

vi Contents

10	War and the Global Spread of the Nation-State Andreas Wurrner and Brian Min	249
----	---	-----

Part V Final Reflections and Outlook

11	Flatland: Quantum Mind and the International Hologram Alexander Wendt	279
----	---	-----

	Index	311
--	--------------	-----