superconnected

THE INTERNET, DIGITAL MEDIA, ANDTECHNO-SOCIAL LIFE

Mary Chayko

Rutgers University

(DSAGE

Los Angeles | London | New Delhi
Singapore | Washington DC | Melbourne

CONTENTS

About the Author ix

CHAPTER 1 • Superconnectedness 1

Superconnected 1
The Internet... 2
...Digital Media ... 3
... and Techno-Social Life 5
Technology, Mediation, and the Diffusion of Innovation 8
Sociality, or Being Social 11
This Book 13

CHAPTER 2 • Creating the Internet Age 17

A (Very) Short History of Information and Communication Technology 17
A (Not Quite as) Short History of Computing and the Internet 19
The Web Is Born 24
Wireless and Mobile Communication 27
Early Online Networking 29
Full-Featured Social Network Sites (SNSs) and Social Media 33
The Triple Revolution of the 2000s 36

CHAPTER 3 • Inhabiting a Digital Environment 41

Sociomental Spaces, Cultures, and Societies 41
Why Not Cyberspace? 43
Online Communities, Networks, and Networking 46
Creating Digital Environments 50
Reality, Presence, and Proximity 53
Reality and the Brain 57
Emotionality and Intimacy 60
So, What About Physicality? 62
The Intersection of the Online and the Offline 65

CHAPTER 4 • Sharing and Surveillance 69

Sharing and Prosuming in a Participatory Culture 69
Crowdsourcing 74

Liking and Following, and Being Liked and Followed 77
Ownership of Online Content 78
The Power to Disseminate and Publish Information 81
Vertical, or Asymmetrical, Surveillance 83
Horizontal, or Social, Surveillance 87
Privacy and Obscurity 90

CHAPTER 5 • Global Impacts and Inequalities 93

Globalization and Technology 93
Stratification and Inequality 94
Cultural Divides 98
Hacking, Danger, Crime, and War 100
Finding Solutions, Bridging Divides 104
Speaking Back to Power: Social Organization, Movements, and Activism 105
The Rise of Citizen Journalism 108

CHAPTER 6 • Techno-Socialization and the Self 111

Socialization, Self, and Identity 111
Development and Performance of the Self 112
Expression of the Self 117
When Identity Is Marginalized 119
Growing up Online and Offline 121
Socialization Never Ends: Socialization Throughout Adulthood 126

CHAPTER 7 • Friending, Dating, and Relating 131

Interactivity 131
Making Digital Connections 132
"Chemistry" and Synchronicity 134
Friendship—Online and Offline 137
Flirting, Dating, Romance, and Sex 140
Trust and Social Support 143
Interpersonal Conflicts and Harassment 145
The Lifespan of Digital Relationships 148

CHAPTER 8 • The Techno-Social Institutions 151

The Institutional "Heart": The Family 151
Health Care 156
Religion 158
Work and Commerce 160
Education and Libraries 164

Politics and Governing 168
The Media 171

CHAPTER 9 • More Benefits and Hazards of 24/7 Superconnectedness 177

Constant Availability 177
Convenience and Microcoordination 178
Fun, Play, and Entertainment 180
Multitasking and the Attention Span 184
Stress, Information Overload, and FOMO 187
Emergencies 189
Dependency and Addiction 191
Health and Moods 193
Being Plugged in . . . to Society 195

CHAPTER 10 • Our Superconnected Future 199

New and Emerging Technologies 199
The Techno-Social Path Ahead 201
Our Personal Paths 205

Acknowledgments 209
References 213
Further Readings 245
Index 249