

Vandals, Romans and Berbers

New Perspectives on Late Antique North Africa

Edited by
A. H. MERRILLS

ASHGATE

Contents

Lists of Illustrations	vii
List of Contributors	ix
Acknowledgements	xi
Abbreviations	xiii
Introduction	1
Vandals, Romans and Berbers: Understanding Late Antique North Africa A. H. Merrills	3
Part 1 African Identities	29
1. The Vandals: Fragments of a Narrative Walter Pohl	31
2. The Settlement of the Vandals in North Africa Andreas Schwarcz	49
3. The House of Nubel: Rebels or Players? Andy Blackhurst	59
4. From Arzuges to Rustamids: State Formation and Regional Identity in the Pre-Saharan Zone Alan Rushworth	77
Part 2 Written Culture	99
5. ‘ Romuleis Libicisque Litteris ’: Fulgentius and the ‘Vandal Renaissance’ Gregory Hays	101
6. Vandal Poets in their Context Judith W. George	133
7. The Perils of Panegyric: The Lost Poem of Dracontius and its Consequences A. H. Merrills	145
8. The So-called Laterculus Regum Vandalorum et Alanorum : A Sixth-century African Addition to Prosper Tiro’s Chronicle? Roland Steinacher	163

9.	Who Wrote the Ostraka from the Îlot de l'Amirauté, Carthage? Jacqueline F. Godfrey	181
10.	Literacy and Private Documentation in Vandal North Africa: The Case of the Albertini Tablets Jonathan P. Conant	199
Part 3 The African Church in Context		225
11.	Who were the Circumcellions? Brent D. Shaw	227
12.	From Donatist Opposition to Byzantine Loyalism: The Cult of Martyrs in North Africa 350–650 W. H. C. Frend	259
13.	Intentions and Audiences: History, Hagiography, Martyrdom, and Confession in Victor of Vita's Historia Persecutionis Danuta Shanzer	271
14.	Disputing the End of African Christianity Mark A. Handley	291
	Select Bibliography	311
	Index	331