

Psychology of Music

From sound to significance

Siu-Lan Tan, Peter Pfordresher and Rom Harré

Contents

Preface	ix
1 The scope of psychology of music	1
PART I
Foundations	7
2 The acoustics of music	9
3 Sound and the neurophysiology of hearing	31
4 Neuroscience and music	53
PART II
The perception and cognition of music	71
5 Perception of musical pitch and melody	73
6 Perception of musical time	95
7 Analysis and cognition of musical structure	111
PART III
Development, learning, and performance	131
8 Emergence of sound and music perception	133
9 Early musical development and education	155
10 Practice and musical expertise	179
11 The psychology of music performance	199

PART IV

The meaning and significance of music 223

12 The social psychology of music 225

13 The question of meaning in music 245

14 The emotional power of music 261

15 Culture and music 281

References 301

Name index 333

Subject index 343