

*Television
&
America's Children*

A CRISIS OF NEGLECT

Edward L. Palmer

New York • Oxford
OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS
1988

Contents

Introduction xv

Foreword xxi

- 1 Our Crisis in Children's Television, Our Deficiencies in Children's Education 3
Our Best, Our Worst, and Our Crisis of Neglect
The Need in Education, the Opportunity in Television
Fine Educational Gems: Their Astonishing Cost Advantage
- 2 Commercial Television: How and Why It
Fails Children 19
How and Why Advertiser-Supported Television Fails Children
Differing National Traditions, Visions, Values
The Public Desire and Commercial Television: Our Weak Quid
Pro Quo
- 3 The FCC: The View from Beneath the Sand 37
When Children's Rights and an Industry's Profit Objectives Collide
While Congress Stalls, the Hot Potato Cools
Lessons from Abroad
Why Should Public TV Take Commerical TV off the Hook?
- 4 Public Television: A Tug-of-War for Scarce Funds 57
The Need to Focus Out-of-School Children's Programs
Mainly on Education

The Need to Fund Children's Out-of-School Education Programs Independently
Public Television's Slow and Tenuous Growth
Public Television's Rootedness in Localism
What Is Needed for Children
Why Public Television Can't Afford It
What Public Television Can Do to Help
Meeting the Unmet Balance

5 The Prix Jeunesse and a Worldwide Vision of Quality 78

Quality Defined as Meeting Children's Diverse Real Needs
A Selection of Prize-winning Programs
Books and Television: Their Co-existence in Children's Lives
The Special Nature and Place of Programs Geared to Children

6 Sesame Street and the CTW Vision of Quality 91

Sesame Street: The Right Idea at the Right Time
Sesame Street's Accomplishments
Reaching the Audience
Evaluating the Contribution of Sesame Street
The CTW Workstyle and Aims
The Origins of CTW's Home-and-School Hybrid
The Longest Street in the World
The CTW Model
The Future and CTW's Home-and-School Hybrid

7 Conclusions 120

The Shape and Cost of a Minimal Schedule
Perspectives on Television's Cost and Efficiency
The Limited Prospects from Within Commercial and Public Television
Current Funding Sources and Our Funding Shortfall
*Only by a Special Exception Will a Fair Share for Children
Be Forthcoming*
Toward a National Policy on Television in Education

Notes 149

Bibliography 171

The Electric Company: Formative Research and Summative Evaluation
Sesame Street: Formative Research and Summative Evaluation
Other Sources

Index 191