

Socialism from Below

HAL DRAPER

Essays Selected, Edited, and with an Introduction by

E. HABERKERN

HUMANITIES PRESS
New Jersey ▼ London

Contents

| | |
|--------------------------|----|
| Acknowledgments | ix |
| Biographical Note | xi |
| Introduction | xv |

THE TWO SOULS OF SOCIALISM

| | |
|---|----|
| 1 The Two Souls of Socialism | 2 |
| 2 Karl Marx and Simon Bolívar: A Note on Authoritarian Leadership in a National-Liberation Movement | 34 |
| 3 The Fabian and the African, or How Sidney Webb Became Lord Passfield and Johnstone Kenyatta Became Jomo | 49 |
| 4 Neo-Corporatists and Neo-Reformists | 58 |
| 5 The "Socialism" That Died: A Political Obituary for Maynard Krueger | 81 |
| 6 The New Social-Democratic Reformism | 88 |

IN DEFENSE OF RADICALISM

| | |
|---------------------------------------|-----|
| 7 In Defense of the "New Radicals" | 108 |
| 8 The Mind of Clark Kerr | 132 |
| 9 Berkeley: The Student Revolt | 145 |
| 10 Free Speech and Political Struggle | 162 |

MARXISM AND ITS CRITICS

| | |
|--|-----|
| 11 A Reply to Hal Draper: Is There a Socialism from Below? by Max Nomad | 174 |
|--|-----|

| | | |
|----|--|-----|
| 12 | In Reply to Max Nomad: Is Oligarchy Inevitable? | 183 |
| 13 | Vladimir Ilyich Jefferson and Thomas Lenin | 198 |
| 14 | Marx, "Marxism," and Trade Unions | 205 |
| 15 | James Morrison and Working-Class Feminism | 226 |
| 16 | The Principle of Self-Emancipation in Marx and Engels | 243 |
| | Index | 273 |