

Vocational education and training in the developed world

A comparative study

Leonard Cantor

ROUTLEDGE

London and New York

Contents

List of Figures	vi
List of Tables	vii
Preface	ix
Acknowledgements	xii
1 Japan: A Well-ordered Society	1
2 Australia: The Tyranny of Distance	33
3 The United States of America: A Unique Diversity	67
4 The Federal Republic of Germany: A Commitment to Vocational Education and Training	95
5 The United Kingdom: A Reluctant Revolution?	116
6 Conclusions and Comparisons	149
Notes and References	159
Index	170