

International Trade and Labour Markets

Edited by

Jitendralal Borkakoti

Middlesex University

and

Chris Milner

CREDIT

University of Nottingham

for the International Economics Study Group

Contents

International Economics Study Group	vi
Notes on Contributors	vii
Preface	viii
1 International trade, employment and unemployment Jitendralal Borkakoti and Chris Milner	1
2 Trade liberalization and unemployment: Policy issues and evidence from Chile Alejandra Cox Edwards and Sebastian Edwards	8
3 Lessons for policy reform in light of the Mexican experience Anne O. Krueger	44
4 International trade, deindustrialization and labour demand: An input-output study for the UK (1979-90) Mary Gregory and Christine Greenhalgh	62
5 The impact of import penetration on unemployment in UK manufacturing Jitendralal Borkakoti	90
6 Trade and manufacturing employment in the United Kingdom Robert C. Hine and Peter Wright	118
7 How trade hurt unskilled workers Adrian Wood	140
8 Occupational employment and wage changes in the UK: Trade and technology effects Anthony Courakis, Keith E. Maskus and Allan Webster	169
9 Optimum inflation, taxation and monetary arrangements in the open economy Peter Sinclair	203
10 Tied aid, unemployment and welfare Sajal Lahiri and Pascalis Raimondos-Møller	219