Chapter 1 Anthropogenic Impacts and Synthetic Surfactants as Pollutants of Aquatic Ecosystems	1
1.1 Criteria and priorities in assessing the hazardous impacts on aquatic biota	1
1.2 Ecological hazard and ecosystemic consequences of the effect of anthropogenic substances on hydrobionts	3
1.3 Biological effects of substances and the need of refining the arsenal of biotesting methods	6
1.4 Substantiating the need for further research into biological effects of synthetic surfactants	9
1.5 Ambiguity of biological effects caused by surfactants	12
1.6 Pollution of aquatic ecosystems by synthetic surfactants	16
1.7 Synthetic surfactants and self-purification of water including its filtration by mollusks	23
Chapter 2 Organisms and Methods	27
2.1 Organisms: Substantiation of choice and aspects of methods used	27
2.2 Chemical substances used	42
Chapter 3 Biological Activity of Waters Containing Anionic Surfactants	49
3.1 Biological effects of alkyl sulfates. Sodium dodecyl sulfate (SDS)	50
3.2 Biological effects of alkyl benzene sulfonates (ABS)	77
3.3 Biological effects of high-polymer synthetic surfactants	85
3.4 Concluding remarks	89
Chapter 4 Biological Activity of Waters Containing Nonionogenic Surfactants	93
4.1 Biological effects of nonionogenic surfactants in a system with bacteria	96

4.2	Biological effects of nonionogenic surfactants on phytoplankton organisms	100
4.3	Biological effects of nonionogenic surfactants on higher eukaryotes	104
4.4	Biological effects of nonionogenic surfactants and their hazards to aquatic ecosystems	121
Chapter 5	Biological Activity of Waters Containing Cationic Surfactants	127
5.1	Biological effects of ethonium	129
5.2	Biological effects of tetradecyl trimethyl ammonium bromide (TDTMA)	129
5.3	Biological effects of benzethonium chloride	142
5.4	Other data on the biological activities of cationic surfactants	142
Chapter 6	Biological Effects of Surfactant-Containing Mixtures and Other Preparations	147
6.1	Impact of aquatic media with surfactant-containing mixtures on hydrobionts: earlier works	147
6.2	New results on the impact of surfactant-containing mixtures on autotrophic organisms	151
6.3	New results on the impact of surfactant-containing mixtures on heterotrophic organisms	161
6.4	Assessment of the biological activities of other preparations and samples	174
6.5	Some concluding remarks	176
Chapter 7	Biological Effects of Synthetic Surfactants and Participation of Hydrobionts in Water Purification	181
7.1	Self-purification of water and the role of hydrobionts in aquatic ecosystems	181
7.2	Water purification and some applied problems	190
7.3	Anthropogenic impact on hydrobionts: assessment of the ecological hazards	192
	Generalizing Remarks	197
	Conclusions	201
	References	203
	Addendum	245
