

Papers and Memoirs of
Juliusz Łukasiewicz
Ambassador of Poland

DIPLOMAT
IN PARIS
1936 - 1939

Edited by Waław Jędrzejewicz

Columbia University Press 1970 New York and London

Contents

Foreword by Juliusz Łukasiewicz, Jr.	v
Editor's Preface	vii
Juliusz Łukasiewicz, a Biographical Note by Wacław Jędrzejewicz	xi
Abbreviations	xxv

The Time of Trouble Summer, 1936–Winter, 1938

Occupation of the Rhineland and the Rambouillet Agreement 1936	3
The Front Populaire in France	22
The Western Pact January-June, 1937	36
The Problem of Teschen Silesia as Seen from the Polish Embassy in Paris in 1938	53
Winter, 1938-1939	147

Prelude to War and Its Beginnings March-September, 1939

The Last Six Months of Peace as Seen from the Polish Embassy in Paris March-August, 1939	173
After the Occupation of Prague. British Guarantees	174

The Question of Italy and the Soviet Union	189
Negotiations with France on the Interpretative Protocol to the Polish-French Alliance and Financial Agreement	202
General Kasprzycki's Mission in Paris. Execution of the Polish-French Military Convention and Interpretative Protocol	210
War Credits for Poland	223
Franco-British-Soviet Negotiations in Moscow	233
The Last Days Before the War	253
September 1-17, 1939	272
Outbreak of War and First Difficulties	272
Timing the French Ultimatum to Germany	280
Endeavors to Secure the Allies' Cooperation	291
British Refuse Air Cooperation	302
Last Attempts to Get the Allies' Help	313
Reasons for the Passivity of the Allies	326
Appointment of the President of the Republic of Poland September 17-30, 1939	338
Choosing the New President	341
The Opposition	348
General Sikorski as Commander in Chief of the Polish Army in France	357
Władysław Raczkiewicz Becomes President of Poland	364
Appendix: Soviet Russia and the Baltic States, 1933-1934	375
Select Bibliography	385
Index	399

Illustrations follow p. 196