

Roderick Martin
Akihiro Ishikawa
Csaba Mako
Francesco Consoli
(eds.)

Workers, Firms and Unions
Industrial Relations
in Transition

PETER LANG

Europäischer Verlag der Wissenschaften

Contents

Preface

Introduction A. Ishikawa and R. Martin

Parti	Changing Patterns of Industrial Relations and Working Life in Advanced Capitalist Economies	19
Chapter 1	Changing Attitudes and Conditions in German Working Life E. Fricke and W. Fricke	21
Chapter 2	Work Involvement and Professional Challenge: a New Trend in Italian Industrial Relations F. Consoli	49
Chapter 3	French Employees in Industrial Restructuring and Employment Crisis M. Maurice	77
Chapter 4	Japanese Employees' Attitudes in Transition: 1984-1994 A. Ishikawa and T. Shiraishi	87
Chapter 5	The Swedish Model in Transition: a Firm Level Perspective C. Edling and C. le Grand	105
Chapter 6	Finnish Trade Unions and the Quality of Life E. Asp	131

Part II	Emerging Patterns of Industrial Relations and Trade Unionism in Socialist and Post-Socialist Societies	151
Chapter 7	Employment, Commitment and Trade Unions: Continuity or Change in Poland 1985-1995 B. Cichomski, J. Kulpinska, and W. Morawski	153
Chapter 8	Changing Patterns of Employment and Employee Attitudes at the Firm Level: the Hungarian Case C. Mako, P. Novoszath, and A. Vereb	191
Chapter 9	Formation of a New Pattern of Industrial Relations and Workers' Views on Their Unions: the Czech Case Z Janata	211
Chapter 10	Enterprise Transformation at Plant Level: the Slovak Case S. Vehovszka	225
Chapter 11	Return to Managerial Paternalism? - hi the Slovenian Context M. Macur and V. Rus	239
Chapter 12	Employees' Attitudes towards the Union in Chinese State Firms H. X. Wang	261
Chapter 13	Some Implications for Trade Unions C. Mako	271
Authors and Editors		283