

Richard D. Duke, Willy C. Kriz

BACK TO THE FUTURE OF GAMING

Preface I	6
Preface II	7
1 Gaming as language for dealing with complex systems in general	10
Jan H.G. Klabbers
Social problem solving: beyond method	12
Elysebeth Leigh
Knowing more than we can say – and using such knowledge to build community and a profession	30
Catalina Otoiu
Details of complexity	40
Fred Goodman
The Title Itself	49
Paola Rizzi
Between no-place and no-time	59
z	p
Gaming for policy, urban planning, community and organizational development	66
Arata Ichikawa
Early Japanese Policy Games	68
Andrea Frank
Establishing Games, Gaming, and Policy Exercises as Tools for Urban and Regional Planning – are we there yet?	80
Toshiko Kikkawa
Gaming as the "Future's Language": Case Studies and Development	93
Yusuke Toyoda
Gaming as an "Effective" Tool for Community-based Disaster Reduction	100
Shigehisa Tsuchiya
"Gaming: The Future's Language" in organizational learning setting: A Japanese experience	111
Jac Geurts, Annemieke Stoppenburg, Leon de Caluwe
Gaming/simulation as an interactive intervention for change	124
3 Gaming design challenges and developments	140
Heide Lukosch, Geertje Bekebrede
The Future of Gaming: Challenges for Designing Distributed Games	142

Sebastiaan Meijer, Yoram Reich, Eswaran Subrahmanian
The Future of Gaming for Design of Complex Systems	154
Vincent Peters, Hayke Everwijn, Marleen van de Westelaken
The evaluation of a discipline: a framework for evaluating simulation games	168
Marcin Wardaszko
Global domination of games	187
Gaming for education and learning transfer	198
Mieko Nakamura
The impact of relevant experience and debriefing questions on participants' perception of gaming simulation	200
Amparo Garcia-Carbonell, M^a Angeles Andreu-Andres, Frances Watts
Simulation and Gaming as the future's language of language learning and acquisition of professional competences	214
Irena Patasiene, Andrius Rakickas, Solveiga Skuncikiene, Martynas Patasius
Increasing complexity of business simulations and games is expected in the future	228
Sebastian Schwagele
Gaming – An Environment for Learning and Transfer	242
A new perspective on the transfer of learning by using simulation games	242
Personal stories and memories, anecdotes, speculations on the future of gaming	256
Allan Feldt
Duke, Feldt, and Simulation/Games, 1964-1977	258
Robert B. Cary
Gaming: The Futures Language– The Early Years	262
Pieter van der Hijden
Gaming: the future's challenge	271
Markus Ulrich
Gaming, the Language to Shape a Sustainable Future	275
A Journey from 1974 to 2054	275
Dmitry Kavtaradze
Looking Back Forty Years – Memories of ISAGA	293
Authors	297