

The handbook of

Key Customer Relationship Management

The definitive guide to winning, managing and developing key account business

KEN BURNETT

FINANCIAL TIMES

Prentice Hall

An imprint of Pearson Education

London • New York • San Francisco • Toronto

Sydney • Tokyo • Singapore • Hong Kong • Cape Town

Madrid • Paris • Milan • Munich • Amsterdam

Contents

Figures	ix
Tables	x
About the author	xii
Acknowledgements	xiv
Overview	xv
1. So how much do you really know about KCRM?	1
Self evaluation	2
How can key customers be "managed"?	3
What will KCRM do for your company?	10
Is KCRM right for your company?	14
How does KCRM affect the sales function?	19
What are the implications for human resources?	21
How do I make KCRM work in my organization?	24
Summary	24
Exhibit 1 a - The pan-European contract	26
2. Is your organization really customer driven?	31
Self evaluation	32
Evolution and revolution	33
The changing face of purchasing	36
Exhibit 2a - Siemens' purchasing strategy	39
Exhibit 2b - Nissan (UK) purchasing strategy	42
Exhibit 2c - Dow Corning (Europe) purchasing strategy	43
The influence of the quality movement	48
Gaining and sustaining competitive advantage	50
Summary	61
3. How much do you really know about your customers?	63
Self evaluation	64
What is a key customer?	65

How do you prioritize key customers?	66
Other implications in evaluating attractiveness	73
Measuring the current relationship status with key customers	79
Calculating attractiveness and relationship status scores	79
The nine-cell customer strategy grid	82
How do you develop strategies to increase key customer business?	84
What can you do to develop positive key customer relationships?	86
Relationship bonding	87
Summary	102
 4. How much do you really know about creating an effective KCRM organization?	 103
Self evaluation	104
Doing the right things before doing things right	105
Analyzing the customer mix	105
Exhibit 4a - Customer management structure: the Apex Component
Company coverage plan	114
Exhibit 4b - Customer management structure: The Xerox Company	121
How do you plan internal resources?	122
How can you improve your sales forecasting?	127
How do customer teams work?	129
Summary	132
 5. How much do you really know about planning your business?	 134
Self evaluation	135
The key customer manager as adviser and counsellor	137
Supporting the value chain in your business	138
Why do you need a business plan?	141
How do you structure a company business plan?	143
Summary	160
 6. Do you really know how profitable your key customers are?	 161
Self evaluation	162
Competing for resources	163
How to create a key customer profitability statement	165

Exhibit 6a - Profitability statement: fast-moving consumer goods	169
Exhibit 6b - Profitability statement: industrial companies	170
The horizontal costing system	170
Summary	181

7. Do you really have a business plan for each of your key customers? 182

Self evaluation	183
Using information to create a business building plan	184
The customer development planning process	186
Customer mapping identifies the 'soft' information	195
Performance reviews and competitive value analysis	216
Customer penetration strategies	224
Summary *	228

8. How much do you really know about selling your ideas? 230

The KCRM culture shift	231
How can you make communication more effective?	232
Making written proposals more effective	238
Making better one-to-one presentations	238
The skills of the effective communicator	239
Summary •	240
Exhibit 8a - Presentation to directors: Farmhouse Foods Ltd	240
Exhibit 8b - Presentation to customers: Pennyweather Paper Mills	245

9. How much do you really know about CRM information technology? 249

Self evaluation	250
Strategy before software	251
Front-end sales automation systems	253
How do you evaluate CRM software?	256
What are your objectives in CRM system implementation?	258
Ten implementation success factors	259
An action plan for implementing a CRM system	262
What to look for in an effective CRM system	270
Summary	274

CONTENTS

10. How much do you really know about motivating people and building effective customer teams?	276
Self evaluation	277
Sharpening our sensitivities	283
Behaviours, attitudes and personality	284
A structured approach to motivation analysis	285
Motivation analysis 1: needs	287
Motivation analysis 2: roles	290
The group dynamics of key customer teams	294
Internal team dynamics	300
Everybody has a team role	300
How do you build effective customer teams?	305
The games people play - planning and leadership	308
Summary	313
11. How much do you really know about negotiating with key customers?	314
The best game in town	315
Negotiation as a process	316
The fabric of negotiation	320
The games people play - negative negotiation	329
The tools of negotiation	334
Negotiating styles	348
The six phases of negotiation	353
The negotiation audit	358
Summary of negotiation principles	359
12. You don't bring me flowers any more	364
Why are customers lost?	365
Changing the organization to meet specific customer needs	369
The distraction of competitive focus	372
An excess of quality?	373
Appendix A: Customer development plan	375
Appendix B: Competitive value analysis	389
Index	395