

Advertising and Promotion

AN INTEGRATED MARKETING COMMUNICATIONS PERSPECTIVE

SEVENTH EDITION

George E. Belch & Michael A. Belch

BOTH OF SAN DIEGO STATE UNIVERSITY

McGraw-Hill
Irwin

Boston Burr Ridge, IL Dubuque, IA Madison, WI New York San Francisco St. Louis
Bagkok Bogota Caracas Kuala Lumpur Lisbon London Madrid Mexico City
Milari\ Montreal New Delhi Santiago Seoul Singapore Sydney Taipei Toronto

Contents in Brief

Part One

Introduction to Integrated Marketing Communications

Chapter One

An Introduction to Integrated Marketing Communications 2

Chapter Two

The Role of IMC in the Marketing Process 36

Part Two

Integrated Marketing Program Situation Analysis

Chapter Three

Organizing for Advertising and Promotion: The Role of Ad Agencies and Other Marketing Communication Organizations 66

Chapter Four

Perspectives on Consumer-Behavior 102

Part Three

Analyzing the Communication Process

Chapter Five

The Communication Process 134

Chapter Six

Source, Message, and Channel Factors 162

Objectives and Budgeting for Integrated Marketing Communications Programs

Chapter Seven

Establishing Objectives and Budgeting for the Promotional Program 190

Developing the Integrated Marketing Communications Program

Chapter Eight

Creative Strategy: Planning and Development 234

Chapter Nine

Creative Strategy: Implementation and Evaluation 264

Chapter Ten

Media Planning and Strategy 298

Chapter Eleven

Evaluation of Broadcast Media 334

Chapter Twelve

Evaluation of Print Media 374

Chapter Thirteen

Support Media 412

Chapter Fourteen

Direct Marketing 444

Chapter Fifteen

The Internet and Interactive Media 466

Chapter Sixteen

Sales Promotion 492

Chapter Seventeen

Public Relations, Publicity, and Corporate Advertising 540

Chapter Eighteen

Personal Selling 572

Monitoring, Evaluation, and Control

Chapter Nineteen

Measuring the Effectiveness of the Promotional Program 594

Part Seven

Special Topics and Perspectives

Chapter Twenty

International Advertising and Promotion 632

Chapter Twenty-one

Regulation of Advertising and Promotion 674

Chapter Twenty-two

Evaluating the Social, Ethical, and Economic Aspects of Advertising and Promotion 714

Glossary of Advertising and Promotion Terms

749

Endnotes

763

Credits and Acknowledgments

791

Name and Company Index

795

Subject Index

807