

Education and Reform in China

© 2008 AGI-Information Management Consultants
This work is for personal purposes only or by individuals related to dandelion.com network.

Edited by Emily Hannum and Albert Park

Contents

List of illustrations	xiii
Notes on contributors	xvii
Preface	xxi
Acknowledgments	xxii
1 Introduction: market reforms and educational opportunity in China EMILY HANNUM, ALBERT PARK, AND KAI-MING CHENG	1
PART I
Finance and access under market reforms	25
2 School equity in rural China WEN LI, ALBERT PARK, AND SANGUI WANG	27
3 Emergence of private schools in China: context, characteristics, and implications JING LIN	44
4 Educational access for China's post-Cultural Revolution generation: enrollment patterns in 1990 RACHEL CONNELLY AND ZHENZHEN ZHENG	64
5 Enrollment and graduation patterns as China's reforms deepen, 1990-2000 RACHEL CONNELLY AND ZHENZHEN ZHENG	81
6 School access in rural Tibet GERARD A. POSTIGLIONE	93
7 Educational attainment of migrant children: the forgotten story of China's urbanization YIU POR CHEN AND ZAI LIANG	117

PARTn

Educational quality	133
8 The growth and determinants of literacy in China DONALD TREIMAN	135
9 Academic achievement and engagement in rural China EMILY HANNUM AND ALBERT PARK	154
10 Supporting China's teachers: challenges in reforming professional development LYNN PAINE AND YANPING FANG	173
11 Incentives and the quality of teachers and schools WEILI DING AND STEVEN LEHRER	191
PART IE
Marketization and the economic impact of education	205
12 Returns to education in rural China ALAN DE BRAUW AND SCOTT ROZELLE	207
13 Returns to education in urban China's transitional economy: reassessment and reconceptualization WEI ZHAO AND XUEGUANG ZHOU	224
14 Rising returns to schooling in urban China JUNSEN ZHANG AND YAOHUI ZHAO	248
15 In books one finds a house of gold: education and labor market outcomes in urban China MARGARET MAURER-FAZIO	260
Index	277