

The End of Theory Financial Crises, the Failure of Economics, and the Sweep of Human Interaction

Richard Bookstaber

PRINCETON UNIVERSITY PRESS
PRINCETON AND OXFORD

CONTENTS

SECTION I: INTRODUCTION 1

- 1 Crises and Sunspots 3
- 2 Being Human 14

SECTION II: THE FOUR HORSEMEN 23

- 3 Social Interactions and Computational Irreducibility 25
- 4 The Individual and the Human Wave: Emergent Phenomena 34
- 5 Context and Ergodicity 40
- 6 Human Experience and Radical Uncertainty 50
- 7 Heuristics: How to Act Like a Human 65

SECTION III: PARADIGM PAST AND FUTURE 79

- 8 Economics in Crisis 81
- 9 Agent-Based Models 94
- 10 Agents in the Complexity Spectrum 108

SECTION IV: AGENT-BASED MODELS FOR FINANCIAL CRISES 125

- 11 The Structure of the Financial System:
Agents and the Environment 127
- 12 Liquidity and Crashes 144
- 13 The 2008 Crisis with an Agent-Based View 157

SECTION V: THE END OF THEORY 169

14 Is It a Number or a Story? Model as Narrative 171

15 Conclusion 185

Acknowledgments 191

Notes 193

References 211

Index 221