

Globalization and Business Politics
in Arab North Africa

A Comparative Perspective

MELANI CLAIRE CAMMETT

Brown University

CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

List of Tables and Figures	, ,	page ix
Acknowledgments		xi
List of Abbreviations		xv
Map of Morocco		xviii
Map of Tunisia		xix

I THE FRAMEWORK

1	Rethinking Globalization and Business Politics	3
	The Theory: Political Opportunities, Class Identity, and the Social Foundations of Business Collective Action	13
2	Globalization and Integration in International Apparel Manufacturing Networks: The New Politics of Industrial Development	25
	Features of Textile and Apparel Manufacturing	26
	The Shifting Global Production Context	28
	Waves of Off-Shore Delocalisation	29
	Trends in Global Supply Chain Management	41
	Industrial Development Strategy in the Contemporary Global Economy: Clusters in Global Value Chains	47

II THE INSTITUTIONAL CONTEXT

3	Business and the State in Tunisia: Statist Development, Capital Dispersion, and Preemptive Integration in World Markets	55
	State-Building and Economic Elites in Tunisia	55
	Who Made the Rules? The New Administrative Elite	62

	State Policies and Class Formation: The Development of a Tunisian Industrial Class	65
	A Critical Juncture: Early Integration in Global Markets and the Emergence of the Dual Market	72
4	Business and the State in Morocco: Business Penetration of the State and the Genesis of the "Fat Cat"	80
	Business-Government Relations in Postindependence Morocco	80
	The Institutionalization of the Protected Economy	89
III GLOBALIZATION AND INSTITUTIONAL CHANGE
5	Business as Usual: State-Sponsored Industrialization and Business Collective Inaction in Tunisia	107
	Preferences and Lobbying: Intentions versus Action	107
	State Repression, Organizational Weakness, or Preemptive Incentives? Competing Accounts of Tunisian Business Complacency	116
	The Social Foundations of Business Behavior	135
6	Fat Cats and Self-Made Men: Class Conflict and Business Collective Action in Morocco	148
	The Construction of an Interest Group	149
	The Catalyst for Mobilization: From Class Identity to Class Formation	168
	Producer Mobilization and New Modes of Business Politics	178
7	Globalization, Business Politics, and Industrial Policy in Developing Countries	190
	Dismantling Protectionism and Business Politics beyond North Africa	194
	Business Politics and Industrial Development in the Contemporary World Economy	209
	Appendix A: Methodological Note and List-of Interviewees	219
	Appendix B: Standardized Questionnaire for Textile and Apparel Industrialists and Factory Managers	229
	Bibliography *	233
	Journals and Newspapers	233
	Government Publications	234
	Books, Articles, and Reports	234
	Index	255