

Proceedings of SIG Market Segmentation Research Seminar

Warwick Business School, 29th June 2004

Table of Contents

The Market Segmentation SIG Objectives	1
Sausen, Karsten; Dibb, Sally: Editorial	2
Dibb, Sally: A Research Agenda for Market Segmentation	5
Sausen, Karsten: Resources and Capabilities for Market Segmentation	10
Wirth, Norbert: Scale Usage Effects in Latent Class Models	15
Tonks, David G.: Identifying Market Segments in Consumer Markets: Variable Selection and Data Interpretation	19
Tapp, Alan: Social Change – New Dimensions For New Mosaic?	22
Dacko, Scott G.: Chronographic Segmentation: Definition and Research Agenda	26
Lindridge, Andrew: Segmentation and Ethnic Minorities: A Case of "Never the twain shall meet?"	28
Misiura, Shashi: Segmentation of Heritage Consumer Market	30
Arnott, David C.: The Red Queen: On Positioning in Dynamic Markets	35
Simkin, Lyndon: From Sectorisation to Segmentation in Six Simple Steps	40
Wirth, Norbert; Bendzko, Anette: The Segmentation Process: Three Initial Core Questions	44
Fifield, Paul: Problems in the Practical Application of Market Segmentation Solutions in B2B Organisations	48
Wensley, Robin: What Really is Segmentation: Theory, Practice or Technology?	51
List of Participants/Authors	57