

GOVERNING ACCESS TO ESSENTIAL RESOURCES

EDITED BY

Katharina Pistor
and Olivier De Schutter

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY PRESS
NEW YORK

CONTENTS

PART 1 Analytical Framework

- i. Introduction: Toward Voice and Reflexivity
Olivier De Schutter and Katharina Pistor

PART 2 Essential Resources: Challenges Ahead

2. Land's Essentiality and Land Governance 49
Derek Hall
3. Governing Boundaries: Exclusion, Essential Resources, and Sustainability 67
Edella Schlager
4. Property Theory, Essential Resources, and the Global Land Rush 81
Hanoch Dagan
5. Multiplicity: Water, Rules, and the Making of Connections in Mumbai 106
Nikhil Anand

PART 3 Beyond Voice and Reflexivity

6. Voice, Reflexivity, and Say: Governing Access to and Control of Land in China 127
Eva Pils

7. Tenure Security and Exclusion Processes in Peri-urban Areas and Rural Hinterlands of West African Cities	156
Alain Durand-Lasserve
8. Redirecting Regulation? Land Titling and Cambodia's Post-neoliberal Conjuncture	186
Michael B. Dwyer
9. Erosion of Essential Resources in Neoliberal India: A Bottom-Up View	201
Vamsi Vakulabharanam
10. Comparing Water Access Regimes Under Conditions of Scarcity: The Tale of Two Communities in the United States	214
Michael Cox
PART 4 Governing Essential Resources in Action
11. Go with the Flow: Lessons from Water Management and Water Markets for Essential Resources	237
Vanessa Casado-Perez
12. Ecology: Water Governance's Missing Link	251
Scott McKenzie
13. Water Scarcity in Morocco: Voice, Narrative, and Essential Resource Governance	270
John Hursh
14. Solving Transborder Water Issues in Changing Climate Scenarios of South Asia: A Theoretical Illustration Using a Principal-Agent Bargaining Approach	288
Nilhari Neupane
15. Voice and Reflexivity in Essential Resources: Reforming the Community Land Regime in Kenya	302
Laila Macharia
16. Do Traditional Institutions Matter in Participatory Essential Resource Governance Systems in Zimbabwe?	316
Manase Kudzai Chiweshe

YJ. Local Corporations: A Corporate Form to Reduce Information Costs and Maintain Supportive Resources

James Krueger

Epilogue 355

Contributors 359

Index 365