

ASIAN IMPERIAL BANKING HISTORY

EDITED BY

Hubert Bonin, Nuno Valerio and Kazuhiko Yago

PICKERING & CHATTO
2015

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	vii
List of Contributors	ix
List of Figures and Tables	xm
Part I: The Specificities of Imperial Banking
Introduction: Issues Regarding Asian Imperial Banking – Hubert Bonin	1
1 French Overseas Banking as an Imperial System: A Background for Asian Developments – Hubert Bonin	21
Part II: Imperial Banking in China
2 Correspondent Banking Networks and Branch Activities in 'Imperial Banking': The Russo-Chinese Bank in Shanghai in 1902 – Kazuhiko Yago	35
3 Competing Imperial Banking: The Yokohama Specie Bank and HSBC in China – 1919 as a Watershed? – Niv Horesh	53
4 Native Banking vs Imperial Banking in Early Twentieth-Century China: The Formation of the Joint Reserve Board in Shanghai to Foster Credit and Credibility – Tomoko Shiroyama	71
Appendix 4.1	88
Appendix 4.2	89
Appendix 4.3	90
Appendix 4.4	91
5 British Banks and the Chinese Indigenous Economy: The Business of the Shanghai Branch of the Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China (1913-37)– Man-han Siu	93
Part III: Imperial Banking and Imperialism
6 Russian and Soviet Imperial Banking in Asia in the 1890s-1920s – Sofya Salomatina	121
7 Challenging Imperial Banking in India: From the Legacy of Empire to Nationalistic Rules – Ashok Kapoor	159
Conclusion – Hubert Bonin	187
Notes	193
Index	223