

MARCUS NOLAND
Editor

Economic Integration of the Korean Peninsula

INSTITUTE FOR INTERNATIONAL ECONOMICS
Washington, DC
January 1998

Contents

Preface	vii
1 Introduction Marcus Noland	1
1 Three Basic Scenarios
2 The Likelihood and Implications of a North Korean Attack on the South Kyongmann Jeon	9
3 North Korea: All Roads Lead to Collapse- All the More Reason to Engage Pyongyang Aidan Foster-Carter	27
4 Managing Integration on the Korean Peninsula: The Positive and Normative Case for Gradualism with or without Integration Scott Snyder	39
II Immediate Issues
5 The Food Economy: The Catalyst for Collapse? Heather Srnith	53