

Nigeria

A New History of a
Turbulent Century

Richard Bourne

Zed Books
LONDON

Contents

Preface	ix
Timeline	xiii
Acronyms and abbreviations	xx
Map of Nigeria	xxiii
Section 1: 1914-39: Invention of a country	1
1. A merger makes a large possession for Britain	3
2. First World War: Nigeria on the front line	16
3. Lugard struggles with opponents	26
4. Between the wars: Nigeria is not a single state	32
5. Between the wars: the economy in a world depression	39
6. Between the wars: a new assertive nationalism	43
Section 2: 1939-64: Rocky road to freedom	55
7. Another world war and strategic importance	57
8. Political change and divisive regionalism	69
9. Regional governments and the coming of independence	78
10. The joy of independence	88
11. Overture to disaster	96
Section 3: 1964-89: The shadow of the generals	109
12. Military coups, Biafra and civil war	111
13. Reconstruction, another coup and the craving for democracy	130
14. A second republic, its short, inglorious life and its overthrow	142
15. Buhari, IBB and a new military era	157

Section 4: 1989–2014: A decade of pain, then disappointment in democracy	173
16. The annulment of an election puts Nigeria on edge	175
17. The disastrous Abacha years	189
18. Democracy, and the return of Obasanjo	201
19. Yar'Adua, Jonathan and threats in the Delta and the northeast	224
Section 5: Reflections	241
Politics as business	245
Ethnicity and religion	250
Oil, inequity and poverty	258
One Nigeria?	265
Afterword	271
Notes	276
Bibliography	299
Index	309