
The Novel
and the Politics of Nation Building in East Africa

TIROP P. SIMATEI

BAYREUTH AFRICAN STUDIES 55

BAYREUTH

CONTENTS

| | |
|---|----|
| Acknowledgements | 7 |
| CHAPTER ONE | 9 |
| INTRODUCTION | 9 |
| East African Literature: The Contexts | 9 |
| From Affirmation to Delegitimation | 12 |
| Nation and Narration: Some Conceptual Perspectives | 19 |
| Conclusion | 26 |
| CHAPTER TWO | 29 |
| LEONARD KIBERA | 29 |
| From Dream to Nightmare | 29 |
| Nation Building and its Ironies | 33 |
| Independence as the Absurd | 41 |
| The Irony of Commitment | 45 |
| Conclusion | 51 |
| CHAPTER THREE | 55 |
| NGUGI'S LIBERATION AESTHETICS | 55 |
| Introduction | 55 |
| Ngugi on Culture, History and the Nation-State | 57 |
| The Struggle over Symbols | 59 |
| Conclusion | 71 |
| CHAPTER FOUR | 73 |

| | |
|---|-----|
| THE ASIAN QUEST/ION | 73 |
| Introduction | 73 |
| M.G. Vassanji: Voyaging on the Mists of Memory | 76 |
| Eavesdropping the Secrets of Empire | 81 |
| On the Margins of the Nation | 83 |
| Independence and Its Anxieties | 92 |
| The Expulsions | 98 |
| The Seductions of Empire | 101 |
| CHAPTER FIVE | 103 |
| THE MULTIRACIAL PROJECT | 103 |
| Peter Nazareth: A Goan Agony. | 103 |
| Arrested Decolonisation | 111 |
| David Rubadiri: The Indian Goddess in Her Sari | 119 |
| Coup D'état as Renewal | 123 |
| CHAPTER SIX | 129 |
| WOMAN, NATION AND HISTORY | 129 |
| Introduction | 129 |
| Oludhe MacGoye and the Story of Kenya | 132 |
| The Coming to Birth of Nation and Woman | 133 |
| "Herstories" of History | 144 |
| The Weevil and the Mustard Seed | 150 |
| Ogola: A Chosen People? | 155 |
| Conclusions | 161 |
| Bibliography | 165 |
| Index | 179 |