

Capital Markets and Financial Intermediation in The Baltics

Alfred Schipke, Christian Beddies,
Susan M. George, and Niamh Sheridan

INTERNATIONAL MONETARY FUND

Washington DC

2004

Contents

Preface	v
I Overview	1
II Structure and Size of the Financial Systems	3
Financial Intermediation	3
Market-Based Finance	9
III Financial Sector Issues in Small Open Economies	16
Distortions in the Financial System	16
Corporate Governance and Market Structure	17
Market-Based Versus Bank-Based Financing	18
Development of Regional Markets	20
Active Government Policy to Develop a Bond Market	20
IV Foreign Ownership of Banks and EU Integration	25
Foreign Ownership of Banks	25
Looking Forward: The Implication of EU Accession	27
V Summary and Conclusion	29
Appendix. Financial Systems and Growth	32
References	35
Boxes
2.1. Venture Capital	15
3.1. Market Infrastructure and Corporate Governance in the Baltics	18
3.2. Developing Markets for Debt: Some Country Experiences	21
Tables
2.1. Banking Indicators	6
2.2. Profitability in Selected European Countries, 2002	7
2.3. Leasing Sector	8
2.4. Insurance Sector	10
2.5. Bond Market Indicators	11
3.1. Pension Reform	23
4.1. Diversification of Swedish Parent Banks and Baltic Subsidiaries	26
4.2. Export Dependence and Diversification, 2002	27