

Journal of International

Business

mir

 dandelion.com

Special
Issue

1/2005

Management International Review

Alan M. Rugman/Alain Verbeke (Guest Editors)

The Limits to Globalization and the Regional Strategies of Multinational Enterprises

Alan M. Rugman/Alain Verbeke

Towards a Theory of Regional Multinationals

Andrew Delios/Paul W. Beamish

Regional and Global Strategies of Japanese Firms

Lei Li

Is Regional Strategy More Effective than Global Strategy in the US Service Industries?

Michael J. Enright

Regional Management Centers in the Asia-Pacific

Michael J. Enright

Roles of Regional Management Centers

Eden Yin/Chong Ju Choi

The Globalization Myth: China

Carla C.J.M. Millar/Chong Ju Choi/Stephen Chen

Globalization and Creative Industries

Robert Grosse

Financial Institutions Are Not Global

Ans Kolk

Environmental Reporting from the Triad

D 21247

CONTENTS

Alan M. Rugman/Alain Verbeke
Towards a Theory of Regional Multinationals: A Transaction Cost Economics Approach	5
Andrew Delios/Paul W. Beamish
Regional and Global Strategies of Japanese Firms	19
Lei Li
Is Regional Strategy More Effective than Global Strategy in the US Service Industries?	37
Michael J. Enright
Regional Management Centers in the Asia-Pacific	59
Michael J. Enright
The Roles of Regional Management Centers	83
Eden Yin/Chong Ju Choi
The Globalization Myth: The Case of China	103
Carla C. J. M. Millar/Chong Ju Choi/Stephen Chen
Globalization Rediscovered: The Case of Uniqueness and “Creative Industries”	121
Robert Grosse
Are the Largest Financial Institutions Really ‘Global’?	129
Ans Kolk
Environmental Reporting by Multinationals from the Triad: Convergence or Divergence?	145