

LEADING SECTORS AND WORLD POWERS

The Coevolution of Global Politics and Economics

George Modelski and William R. Thompson

University of South Carolina Press

CONTENTS

Tables vii

Figures xi

Preface xiii

Part One: Introduction

1. Problem and Premises 3

Part Two: The State of the Field

2. The Confused State of the Literature 13
3. A Critique of the Literature 41
4. Long Cycles, War, and Long-term Economic Growth 51

Part Three: Testing the Leading Sector-Global War Relationship

5. Do K-Waves and Long Cycles Coevolve? 65
6. Leading Sectors in the Global Economy:
Fifteenth to Twentieth Centuries, K-Waves 9–18 70
7. Testing for Coevolution 105

Part Four: The Coevolution of the Global Economy

8. An Enlarged Framework 121
9. Sung China and the Evolving Global Economy:
Tenth to Twelfth Centuries, K-Waves 1–4 142
10. Renaissance Italy:
Thirteenth to Twentieth Centuries, K-Waves 5–8 177

Part Five: Looking Ahead

11. The Nineteenth K-Wave and No Global War? 211

Notes 231

Bibliography 239

Index 253