

CHINA'S FRONTIER REGIONS

Ethnicity, Economic Integration and Foreign Relations

Edited by

MICHAEL E. CLARKE AND DOUGLAS SMITH

I.B. TAURIS

LONDON · NEW YORK

CONTENTS

Notes on Contributors	vii
Preface	ix
Map: People's Republic of China: Provinces and autonomous regions	xii
Introduction: A Rising China and its Frontier Regions into the Twenty-First Century	1
Michael E. Clarke and Douglas Smith
1. Development with Chinese Characteristics in Xinjiang: A Solution to Ethnic Tension or Part of the Problem?	22
Sean R. Roberts
2. Beijing's 'March Westwards': Xinjiang, Central Asia and China's Quest for Great Power Status	56
Michael E. Clarke
3. China's Economic Modernization in Tibet and Its Impact on Tibetan Identity	87
Elizabeth Davis
4. South Asian Responses to China's Rise: Indian and Nepalese Handling of the Tibet Issue	110
Tsering Topgyal

5. Sino-Mongolian Relations in the Twenty-First Century:
The Inner Mongolia Factor 140
Sharad K. Soni
6. From 'Backwater' to 'Bridgehead': Culture, Modernity
and the Reimagining of Yunnan 171
Gary Sigley
- Index* 204