

Nature: An Economic History

Geerat J. Vermeij

PRINCETON UNIVERSITY PRESS

PRINCETON AND OXFORD

CONTENTS

Preface	vii
CHAPTER ONE Economy and Evolution: A Road Map	1
CHAPTER TWO The Evolving Economy	13
CHAPTER THREE Human and Nonhuman Economies Compared	38
CHAPTER FOUR The Economics of Everyday: Consumption and the Role of Enemies in Nature	59
CHAPTER FIVE The Economics of Everyday: Production and the Role of Resources	92
CHAPTER SIX The Ingredients of Power and Opportunity: Technology and Organization	121
CHAPTER SEVEN The Ingredients of Power and Opportunity: The Environment	145
CHAPTER EIGHT The Geography of Power and Innovation	169
CHAPTER NINE Breaking Down and Building Up: The Role of Disturbance	204
CHAPTER TEN Patterns in History: Toward Greater Reach and Power	246
CHAPTER ELEVEN The Future of Growth and Power	292