

^ / ^-^ ^^ ^ » w»» /y ^ » ^ - » v

and Rationality

Promise, Limits, and Problems

edited by

Axel van den Berg
Hudson Meadwell

Transaction Publishers
New Brunswick (U.S.A.) and London (U.K.)

Contents

List of Tables, Figures, and Diagrams	ix
Acknowledgements	xi
Introduction	1

Axel van den Berg and Hudson Meadwell

Part 1: Rationality, Social and Economic

1. Towards a Sociological Rational Choice Theory Michael Hechter	23
2. Rationality Revised: The Evolution of an Axiom in Economics George Grantham	41
3. Rationality in Economics and Econometrics: Theoretical Devices, Issues and Puzzles Robin Rowley	81

Part 2: How Rational Are We Really? Views from Philosophy, Sociology and Political Science

4. Systemism: The Alternative to Individualism and Holism Mario Bunge	109
5. Rational? Agents Storrs McCall	125

6. Penser la guerre, Clausewitz John A. Hall	137
7. On the Use of the Prisoners'Dilemma to Analyze the Relations Between Employment Security, Trust, and Effort Michael R. Smith	145
8. Judges as Rational Actors: Strategic Behavior and the Emergence of Judicial Supremacy in Canada Christopher P. Manfredi	169
Part 3: Wrapping Up
9. Concluding Remarks Ian Shapiro	191
Conclusion Hudson Meadwell and Axel van den Berg	199
Contributors	223
Index	225