

MACRO-ECONOMICS: MAKING GENDER MATTER

Concepts, policies and institutional change in developing countries

EDITED BY MARTHA GUTIERREZ

Deutsche Gesellschaft für
Technische Zusammenarbeit (GTZ) GmbH

Zed Books
LONDON • NEW YORK

Contents

Abbreviations and Acronyms /ix

Introduction /x

PART ONE	Macro-economics and Gender	i
1	Broadening the Foundations of Macro-economic Models through a Gender Approach: New Developments BARBARA EVERS	3
X	Gender inequalities and growth /4 Gender analysis at the macro level /6 Limitations of a micro-foundations approach to macro-economics /j Engendering macro-economic models: recent developments /% Gender as a social institution: incorporating social reproduction into macro-economics /12 Implications for policy /16 Conclusions /17
2	Engendering Macro-economics NILUFER CAGATAY	22
	Rethinking the conceptual framework of macro-economics and stylized facts on gender /23 Engendered macro-economic modelling /30 Gender and macro-economic policy /32 Engendering macro-economics and the UNDP /35
3	Social and Gender Issues in Macro-economic Policy Advice INGRID PALMER	42
	The subject matter of macro-economics /^ Informing macro-economics of gender realities /48 Key areas of gender relevance at the macro level /60 Suggestions for an agenda of consolidating activities /y6 Annex: glossary of economic terms /80

- 4 Macro-economies and Gender: Options for Their Integration into a State Agenda 88
 JOERG FREIBERG-STRAUSS
 '(Are they two different perspectives? /88 The link between the micro and the macro /90 Gender and macro-economic models /91 Growth and equity in Latin America /93 Proposals for the drafting of policies /<)4 From.theory to practice /$j
- 5 Economic Policies, Public Spending and Gender-differentiated Effects 97
 REBECA. GRYNSPAN
 Economic policies-and public spending /yj Towards the attainment of gender equality- /99 Privatization of services and funnelling /99 Streamlining the state apparatus /101 Decentralization /103 Alternative proposals /104
- 6 Unpaid Household Labour: A Conceptual Approach 106
 FABIOLA CAMPILLO
 Effects of unpaid household labour on the national economy-/107 Learning from some economic measuring instruments /i n Changes in the caring economy? /116 Conclusions /.118
- 7 Measurement and Valuation of Unpaid Household Production: A Methodological Contribution 122
 TATJANA SIKOSKA
 The unrecognized value of household work A24 The system of national,accounts and the system of satellite accounts /127 The interface between the household and the market production sectors /127 Available methodologies for the^measurement and valuation of unpaid household production /129 Can satellite accounts on household production be established? A32 Lessons learned:, conclusions and recommendations /142
- 8 Do We Have Gender Statistics? 146
 THELMA GALVEZ

Conventional' statistics.and gender /146 The demand for gender-sensitive statistics /150 State of the art of official statistics /154 Proposal for the construction of gender statistics / r 55 Difficulties encountered in national statistics systems /160 Suggestions for action /162

PART TWO Gender and the State 167

9 Gender and the State: Between Disenchantment and Hope 169

MARIA GRISTINA ROJAS AND ELVIA GARO

The state as a reproducer of gender relations /169 Gender-neutrality and distension in public policy /170 The state as a constituent part of gender relations /173 Gender policies as institutionalized interpretative systems /176 Conclusions /180

10 State-Mbdernization, Institutional Change and Gender 184
ANNETTE BACKHAUS

Gender on the public agenda /184 The resistance of bureaucracies /185 State reforms: new paradigms for a gender agenda? /190 Institutional change: overcoming the preference for males /193

PART THREE Institutionalizing Gender in National and International Organizations 199

11 Gender Equality in Public Planning Institutions 201

BARBARA HESS AND ANA RICO
DE ATONSO - - . - . .

Components of the process of institutionalization /202 Factors that favour or hinder institutionalization /203 Experiences gathered by the pro-equity project/204 Experiences of the Colombian National Planning Department (DNP) with the institutionalization of the gender approach / 205

12	Gender Equality in Public Policies: The UN Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean JOSE ANTONIO OCAMPO Some consensus /212 ECLAC's approach to the issue of gender /213 The instruments/214 Diagnoses/217 Approaches and policies /219	212
13	The Institutionalization of the Gender Approach within EC LAC MARIA NIEVES RICO The gender approach at.EGLAC/2-23 Sustainability A27	223
PART FOUR Case Studies from Latin America		231
14	Gender and the Labour Market in Colombia CECILIA LOPEZ MONTANO The female urban labour market/235 Female rural labour market A44 Conclusions /24s	233
15	Poverty Information, Poverty Reduction Strategies and Gender: A Colombian Case Study ROSEMARY MCGEE Some underlying premises/2)2 Poor women and men, girls and.boys /254 The current approach to poverty reduction in Colombia /257 A view from the field /25s Implications of these findings for the efficacy of poverty information and reduction, strategies/261 Overcoming some limitations of the current approach to poverty /263	251
16	Understanding Economies as Gendered Structures: Examples from Central America JASMINE GIDEON Central American economies as gendered, structures Economic.reform programmes /279 Gender constraints on well-balanced development /281 Trade-off between increasing exports and promotion of food security /287 Conclusion	269
	Index	296