

The Globalization of the Chinese Economy

Edited by

Shang-Jin Wei

Senior Fellow holding the New Century Chair in International Economics at the Brookings Institution, USA

Guanzhong James Wen

Associate Professor at Trinity College, USA

Huizhong Zhou

Professor of Economics at Western Michigan University, USA

Edward Elgar

Cheltenham, UK • Northampton, MA, USA

Contents

About the Editors	vii
Contributors	viii
Acknowledgements	x
1. A Globalizing China: An Introduction Shang-Jin Wei, Guanzhong James Wen and Huizong Zhou	1
PART 1: TRANSFORMATION IN THE CHINESE ECONOMY	11
2. Revamping the Industrial Policies Ding Lu	13
3. The Future of the Agricultural Sector D. Gale Johnson	34
4. Telecommunications: Moving Towards Competition Ding Lu	47
5. Telecommunications: Recent Rate Adjustments Huizhong Zhou	68
6. Automobile and Fuel Industries Jason Z. Yin and David F. Gates	82
PART 2: SOCIAL IMPLICATIONS	101
7. Reconfiguration of the Labor Market Haizheng Li and Guifang (Lynn) Yang	103
8. Regional Inequality Xiaobo Zhang and Kevin Honglin Zhang	118
9. Urbanization and Population Relocation Guanzhong James Wen	134
PART 3: LINKAGE WITH THE WORLD	153
10. The Impact on the US and Other Countries Zhu Wang	155
11. The Impact on Taiwan Chen-yuan Tung	190
12. Foreign Investment in China: Macro Determinants Kevin Honglin Zhang	205
13. Foreign Investment in China: Firm Strategies Minquan Liu, Luodan Xu and Liu Liu	221

14. Explosion of Trade Disputes? Jason Z. Yin and Doowon Lee	244
Index	264