

Private Capital Flows and the Environment

Lessons from Latin America

Edited by

Bradford S. Gentry

*Yale Center for Environmental Law and Policy,
Yale University, USA*

Edward Elgar

Cheltenham, UK • Northampton, MA, USA

Contents

List of Figures	ix
List of Tables	xi
List of Boxes	xiii
List of Collaborators	xv
List of Abbreviations	xix
Acknowledgements	xxiii
Preface	xxv
Foreword	xxix
1 Overview - Private Capital Flows and the Environment	1
Key Findings - Opportunities, Not Just Risks	2
Policy Implications - Expanding Commercial Advantage	3
Methodology - Multiple Latin American Perspectives on a Global Phenomenon	5
Contents - Flows, Environmental Aspects, Ways Forward	6
Part I Flows
2 Taxonomy - Foreign Private Investment in Emerging Markets	13
Amounts - Globally	13
Types - Three Major Categories	15
Locations - Geographically Concentrated in 'Emerging Markets'	17
Sectors - Varying Degrees of Environmental Impact	18
Investors - Varying Degrees of Environmental Sensitivity	19
Country-specific Experience	20
3 Experience - Private Capital Flows to Four Latin American Countries	23
Chapter Overview and Questions for the Cases	23
Section 3.1 Mexico ( B. W. Husted and E. Rodriguez )	24
Section 3.2 Brazil ( P.H. May, A.C. Castro, and A.B. de Castro )	32
Section 3.3 Argentina ( V. Burijson, L. Castelli, D. Lavallo Cobo,         and J.R. Walsh )	40
Section 3.4 Costa Rica ( L. Castro, E.R. Brenes, and J. Rivera )	49

Part II Environmental Aspects of Foreign Direct Investment

4	Agriculture - Cases from Brazil and Costa Rica	59
	Chapter Overview	59
	Section 4.1 Financing Expansion of Brazil's Pulp and Paper Industry ( P.H. May and V. Goncalves da Vinha )	65
	Section 4.2 Expansion and Technological Innovation in Brazil's Soybean-based Agroindustrial Complex ( A.C. Castro, and P.H. May )	14
	Section 4.3 Bananas - The Costa Rican Experience ( J. Rivera and E.R. Brenes )	83
5	Manufacturing - Cases from Mexico and Costa Rica	103
	Chapter Overview	103
	Section 5.1 Mexico - Impact of Environmental Policy Instruments on International Investors ( B. W. Husted and E. Rodriguez )	108
	Section 5.2 Manufacturing Free Zones in Costa Rica ( G. Quijandria, J. Rivera, and E.R. Brenes )	126
6	Privatization - Argentina and Mexico	143
	Chapter Overview	143
	Section 6.1 Argentina - Buenos Aires Water and Sewerage ( B.S. Gentry and L.O. Fernandez )	150
	Section 6.2 Mexican Steel ( B.S. Gentry and L.O. Fernandez )	188
7	Public-Private Partnerships - Costa Rica and Mexico	217
	Chapter Overview	217
	Section 7.1 The Tourism Industry in Costa Rica ( J. Rivera, E.R. Brenes and G. Quijandria )	223
	Section 7.2 Joint Implementation in Costa Rica ( L. Castro, G. Quijandria, and E.R. Brenes )	241
	Section 7.3 Waste Water - The Case of Juarez, Mexico ( N. Kapur and A.K. Reynolds )	246

Part III Ways Forward

8	Lessons-The Environmental Content of Private Capital Flows	275
	Environmental Content - Both Negative and Positive	275
	Five Reasons for Positive Environmental Content - Commercial Advantage	276
	The Changing Roles of Public and Private Parties in Improving Environmental Performance	281
	Appendix - Overview of Environmental Policy in Mexico, Brazil, Argentina and Costa Rica	290
9	Policy Implications - Leverage Points and Changing Roles	293
	Chapter Overview	293
	Influencing Investor Decision-making	293
	Changing the Role of Government	299
	Appendix - Overview of Investment Promotion in Mexico, Brazil, Argentina and Costa Rica	306
10	Opportunities - Increasing the Environmental Content of Private Capital Flows	311

Actions by Governments - Build Demand, Facilitate Information, and Support Deals	312
Foreign Direct Investors - Keep Investing, Collaborate on Shared Goals, Demonstrate Links	320
Environmental NGOs - Understand and Target	322
Private Financiers - Ask Questions	324
Customers - Buy Products	325
11 Further Work - Steps on the Path to Sustainable Development	329
Steps on the Path to Sustainable Development	331
Changing Roles	332
 Bibliography	 335
Index	353