

Greening the Budget

Budgetary Policies for Environmental Improvement

Edited by

J. Peter Clinch

University College Dublin, Ireland

Kai Schlegelmilch

Federal Ministry for the Environment, Nature Conservation and Nuclear Safety, Germany

Rolf-Ulrich Sprenger

IFO Institute for Economic Research, Germany

Ursula Triebswetter

IFO Institute for Economic Research, Germany

INTERNATIONAL STUDIES IN ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY MAKING

Edward Elgar

Cheltenham, UK • Northampton, MA, USA

Contents

List of boxes	vii
List of figures	viii
List of tables	x
List of contributors	xiii
Foreword	xv
Preface	xvii

Introduction	xix
J. Peter Clinch, Kai Schlegelmilch and Ursula Triebswetter

PART I ENVIRONMENTALLY DAMAGING SUBSIDIES

1 Can we tell a perverse subsidy if we see one? Jan H.M. Pieters and Helen Mountford	3
2 The perversity of government subsidies for energy and water André de Moor and Cees van Beers	24
3 Promoting green budget reforms in the USA: the experience of Friends of the Earth Gawain Kripke	45
4 Green budget reform: case study of Slovenia Kai Schlegelmilch and Tanja Markovič-Hribernik	62

PART II TAXES AND CHARGES

5 Evaluating environmental taxes: recent experiences and proposals for the future Stefan Speck and Paul Ekins	87
6 A review of environmentally damaging tax concessions in Germany Ursula Triebswetter	107
7 Energy subsidies in Germany Bettina Meyer	122
8 Designing a land-use tax Kilian Bizer	145

9	Italian waste management: comparing revenues from a general tax with a quantity-related fee Luciano Messori	162
PART III SUBSIDIES FOR ENVIRONMENTAL PURPOSES
10	The provision of public goods – sending the right price signals Eirik Romstad	183
11	Technical potential for CO ₂ emissions reductions and the scope for subsidies Johan Albrecht	195
12	Assessing subsidies in a second-best world: the case of forestry in Ireland J. Peter Clinch	213
PART IV EUROPEAN FINANCIAL TRANSFERS
13	Economic instruments for agri-environmental policy: what, when, and what for? Dominic Hogg	227
14	European Union agri-environmental policy: issues and potentials Frank J. Convery, John Fry, Alan Matthews, Siobhán O’Shea and Anne Pender	248
15	Subsidies to the farming sector: who receives direct payments in Ireland? Susan Scott	275
PART V PUBLIC PURCHASING AND ADMINISTRATION
16	The case of public purchasing and green procurement at the municipal level: the local and the European dimension Arndt Mielisch and Christoph Erdmenger	297
17	Cooperative procurement: market transformation for energy-efficient products Katrin Ostertag and Carsten Dreher	314
	Index	333