

Manuel Schiffler

Water, Politics and Money

A Reality Check on Privatization

Contents

1	Introduction	1
	The Tragedy of Utilities in Developing and Emerging Countries	1
	The Water Privatization Wave of the 1990s	2
	The Role of the IMF, the World Bank and the IFC	3
	The Many Faces of Privately Managed Services	4
	The Extent of Water Privatization and Private Financing: Misleading Numbers	6
	Investment Financing in Water Supply and Sanitation	6
	Developed Countries: Investment Financing Through Revenues and Debt	7
	Developing and Emerging Countries: Investment Financing Through Grants and Debt	7
	Foreign Aid: An Overestimated Source of Financing	8
	Private Financing: Making Sense of the Figures	9
	Utility Turnarounds: How to Assess Their Success	9
	How to Avoid Comparing Apples with Oranges	10
	Chapter Overview	11
Part I	Latin America: Two Aborted Privatizations and One That Endured
2	Bolivia: The Cochabamba Water War and Its Aftermath	17
	Before the Privatization	17
	Ambitious Targets, High Returns and High Risks	18
	A First Failed Attempt: The World Bank and the Government Disagree	19
	The Second Attempt: Enter Bechtel	20
	The Privatization	21
	Increased Tariffs, Disputed Figures	21
	Leasing the Rain?	22
	The "Water War"	23

After the Privatization	24
The "Heroes" of the "Water War"	24
International Arbitration: Bechtel Claims Compensation, Then Withdraws	24
Cochabamba Revisited: A Sad End	25
Conclusion	26
3 Cuba: Water Privatization in a Socialist Country	27
Poor Service	27
Enter the Tourists	28
Havana Goes Private	28
Loans and Quasi-free Water	28
Conclusion	29
4 Argentina: A Flagship Privatization and Its Demise	31
Before the Concession	32
Preparing the Political Ground	33
Dressing Up the Bride	34
Ambitious Targets	35
How to Regulate a Private Water Company?	35
The Forgotten Poor	36
The Fog of Bidding	36
May the Lowest Offer Win	37
The First Half of the Concession Period	38
Corruption Argentinian-Style: The Alsogaray Saga	39
The First Renegotiation: Higher Tariffs, More Investment	39
The Second Renegotiation: Cancelled Fines, Less Investment	40
The Economic Crisis and the Second Half of the Concession Period	41
Serving the Poor, At Last	41
More Renegotiations Fail to Save the Concession	42
Impact Falls Short of Targets	42
After the Concession	43
Return to Public Management: A Drain on the State Budget	43
Legal Aftermath	44
Conclusion	44
 Part II The Middle East: Reform Deadlock, with an Exception
5 Egypt: Kafka on the Nile	47
Dismal Conditions	47
Decades of Tug of War over Reforms	48
Privatization Stuck in the Mills of Bureaucracy	49
A Kafkaesque Turn	50
Arab Spring, Arab Fall	51

Impact: Disappointing Results	52
Conclusion	53
6 Jordan: Private Plants, Public Utilities	55
The Amman Management Contract	55
Build-Operate-Transfer (BOT) Contracts: Concessions for Single New Plants	56
The Samra Wastewater Treatment Plant: A Smart Mix of Public and Private Funds	56
The Disi-Amman Conveyor: 10 Years in the Making	57
BOT Contracts: The Most Common and the Least Known Form of Water "Privatization"	58
Conclusion: Benefits and Risks for Governments and Taxpayers	59
Part III Europe and North America: Private and Public Utilities Compared
7 The United Kingdom: A Natural Experiment Between Private and Public Management	63
Before the Privatization	63
The "Sick Man of Europe" and Public Water	64
Pondering Alternatives for Reform	65
Regulation of Private Water Companies	65
The Privatization	66
A Green Dowry	66
"Shareholder Democracy"	67
New Labor Turns Against the Private Companies	67
Institutional Investors Take Over	67
Over Their Head in Debt	68
The Track Record of Regulation	68
Private Water Calls for Government Help: The Thames Tideway Tunnel	69
The Impact of Privatization in England	71
Higher Bills and Profits	71
Increased Investment	72
Improved Quality of Service	72
Reduced Pollution	72
Loss of Employment and Increased Labor Productivity	72
Leakage Goes First Up, Then Down	73
Operating Costs Reduced	74
Welsh Water: A New Model Emerges	75
Cowboy Capitalism	75
A Revolution from the Managers	75
A Revenue-Making Not-for-Profit Company Built on Ethical Principles	76

A First Transformation Attempt Foiled by the Regulator	76
A Chance Event Creates a New Opportunity	77
Support from the New Regulator	77
The Green Wales and Welsh Water Model	78
Performance Improvements	78
Welsh Water and English Water Companies Compared	79
The Scottish Turnaround	79
Conclusion	81
8 France: An Improved Partnership in the Motherland of Multinational Water Companies	83
Fragmented Local Government	83
Improved Governance, Step by Step	84
The History of French Water Sector	85
The Emergence of Private Water Companies in the Mid-Nineteenth Century	85
The Demise of Water Concessions in the Late Nineteenth Century	86
The Post-war Comeback of the Private Sector	87
Nationalization Averted	88
A Too Cory Relationship with Politicians	88
Paris Privatization	88
A Rip-Off in Grenoble	89
A New Law Chastises Private Water Companies	90
International Expansion	90
Remunicipalization	92
Grenoble Remunicipalizes After Corruption Was Exposed	92
Paris Remunicipalizes	92
Eau de Paris: Underinvestment at the Expense of Future Generations?	93
Remunicipalization in Other French Cities	94
Marseille: More Competition Instead of Remunicipalization	95
Conclusion	95
9 Germany: Healthy Municipal Utilities, but with a Quirk	97
Tariffs and Affordability	98
Cross-Border-Leases: Selling German Sewers to Help Americans Save Taxes	98
Is the German Water Business Profitable to Its Municipal Owners?	100
Competition in Water Supply?	101
Performance Benchmarking	101
The Regulators Push Water Prices Down	102
Utilities Fight Back in Their Own Way	103
Conclusion	104

10	Berlin: Privatized to Fill State Coffers, Remunicipalized at the State's Expense	105
	Before the Privatization	105
	Fiscal Motives	106
	Privatization Design: Institutional Acrobatics	107
	Selection of the Company	108
	More Acrobatics	108
	Private Management and Rising Opposition	109
	The Citizens Rise Up	109
	The Cartel Office Joins the Fray	110
	Remunicipalization	110
	The Impact of Privatization	111
	Tariffs Increase, but Mostly Before Privatization	111
	Who Gained More: The State or the Investors?	112
	Higher Productivity, Conflicting Figures on Operating Costs	113
	Transparency and Management Improved	113
	Conclusion	114
11	Civil Society and the EU Concession Directive: David Beats Goliath, Using a Few Tricks	115
	What Is the Concession Directive and Why Was It Introduced?	115
	Opposition from Germany	116
	The European Citizens' Initiative Right2Water	116
	A TV Documentary Stirs Up Public Sentiment	117
	A Public Relations Disaster for the European Commission	118
	A Powerful Mixture of Fear and Brussels-Bashing	118
	Water Is Taken Out of the Concession Directive	119
	A Modified Directive Is Passed	119
	Conclusion	120
12	The United States: Public Water in a Capitalist Country	121
	Infrastructure Backlog	122
	Reluctance to Increase Tariffs	122
	Friends and Foes of Federal Financing	123
	The Water Privatization Wave Hits the United States	123
	Enter the Foreign Companies	124
	Privatization Fatigue	124
	Private Equity Firms to the Rescue?	125
	Private Companies Serving Public Utilities	126
	New York City	126
	44 Years to Build a Tunnel	126
	Keeping the Money from the Hands of the Politicians	127
	The Federal Government Orders More Investments	127
	DC Water: A Public Utility Turnaround	128
	Conclusion	130

Part IV Asia and Africa: Three Successful Utility Turnarounds, Public and Private
13 The Philippines: A Delayed Privatization Success Story in Manila...	135
Before the Privatization	135
Making the Concession Attractive	136
Splitting the Service Area in Two Halves	136
The Bidding War	137
Private Management: A Tale of Two Concessions	138
Impact: Increased Access, Improved Efficiency and Customer Satisfaction	139
Tariffs Go Down and Up, but Remain Affordable	140
Did the Winning Companies Submit "Dive Bids"?	140
Conclusion	141
14 Uganda: A Public Utility Turnaround, Triggered by Pressure to Privatize	143
Before the Turnaround	143
The Heritage of Idi Amin and Milton Obote	143
National Water and Sewer Company (NWSC) in the 1990s: A Basket Case?	144
The World Bank Pushes for Privatization	145
The Turnaround	145
Making Customers Pay Their Bills	147
Cutting the Number of Employees by Half	147
Changing the Corporate Culture and Focusing on Customers	148
Performance Contracts Between the Government and NWSC	149
Creating a New Corporate Culture	150
An Alternative to Privatization	151
Increasing the Customer Base	153
Reaping the Rewards	154
After the Turnaround	154
Management Fads Galore	154
Stagnating Performance	155
The Government Provides Debt Relief	155
Doubts on the Accuracy of Figures	156
Muhairwe's Exit	157
After Muhairwe	157
Impact	158
Are Water Bills Still Affordable?	158
Conclusion	159
15 Cambodia: A Public Utility Turnaround, Ending with Privatization.	161
Before the Turnaround	161
The Turnaround	162
Laying the Foundations of Success by Gaining Trust	162

Creation of an Autonomous Utility	163
Increasing Tariffs, Especially for High-Volume Users	163
Expanding the Network the Right Way	163
Impact: Spectacular Results	164
After the Turnaround	166
From Obscurity to Fame	166
Privatization Through the Stock Exchange	166
Conclusion	167
16 Utility Turnarounds Compared: The Importance of Corporate Culture and Financing	169
Differences in Circumstances	169
Performance Compared	170
Similarities in Changes of Corporate Culture	171
Differences in the Sequence of Reforms	171
Efficiency Improvements	172
Salary Levels	172
Overall Costs	173
Fiscal Impact	174
Affordability	174
Conclusion	175
Part V Conclusions
17 Conclusion: It Is Not About Public or Private	179
What Has Changed over the Last 25 Years?	179
The Impact of Privatization and Remunicipalization	180
Conclusion	183
Annex 1: Management Modes, Subsidies, Water Use, Bills, and Affordability in Selected Cities	185
Annex 2: Nonrevenue Water in Selected Cities According to Different Indicators	187
Annex 3: Overview of Privatizations, Public Turnarounds, and Remunicipalizations in This Book	189
Annex 4: Chronology of Key Events Covered in the Book	191
Annex 5: Glossary of Technical Terms	193
Annex 6: Sources	197
1. Introduction	197
2. Bolivia	197
3. Cuba	198

4. Argentina	198
5. Egypt	199
6. Jordan	200
7. The United Kingdom	200
8. France	201
9. Germany	202
10. Berlin	202
11. Civil Society and the EU Concession Directive	203
12. The United States	203
13. The Philippines	204
14. Uganda	205
15. Cambodia	206
16. Conclusion	206
Index	209