

National Perspectives on the New Regionalism in the North

Volume 2

Edited by

Björn Hettne

Professor

Department of Peace and Development Research

Göteborg University

András Inotai

Director-General

Institute for World Economics

Budapest

and

Osvaldo Sunkel

Professor of Economics and Business Administration

Director, Center for Public Policy Analysis

University of Chile

Foreword by Giovanni Andrea Cornia

Director, UNU/WIDER

<sup>C</sup>
in association with
UNU/WIDER

Contents

List of Tables	vii
List of Abbreviations and Acronyms	viii
Notes on the Editors and Contributors	xi
Foreword by Giovanni Andrea Cornia	xiv
The New Regionalism: A Prologue	xv
Editors' Preface	xxx
Introduction András Inotai	1
PART I
1 Regionalization in the Change of the European System Kaisa Lähteenmäki-Smith	19
2 Germany's Options and Interests in Europe Jörg Brechtefeld	44
3 Divided Nation, Reluctant European: The Case of Norway Helge Hveem	66
4 The Dynamics of Regionalization: The Case of Hungary András Inotai	90
5 Visegrád Co-operation: An Approach to Europe? Pál Gáspár and Magdolna Sass	117
PART II
6 Post-Soviet Regionalism: Integration or Break-up? Sergei Medvedev	139
PART III
7 Sustaining American Hegemony: The Relevance of Regionalism? James H. Mittelman and Richard Falk	173

8	North American Regionalism from a Canadian Perspective	195
	Manfred Bienefeld
9	Regional Integration on Uneven Terms: The Case of Mexico within NAFTA	239
	Edmé Domínguez R.
	Table of Contents of Titles in the UN/WIDER New Regionalism Series	265
	Index	269