

Telecommunications Reform in the Asia– Pacific Region

Edited by

Allan Brown, Moazzem Hossain and Duc-Tho Nguyen
Griffith University, Nathan, AUSTRALIA

Edward Elgar

Cheltenham, UK • Northampton, MA, USA

C

Contents

List of figures	vii
List of tables	viii
List of contributors	x
Preface	xii
Summary	xiv

PART I DEVELOPED NATIONS

1. United States: Lessons for the new millennium 3
Robert W. Crandall and Jerry Hausman
2. United Kingdom: Economic and regulatory issues of telecommunications reform 33
Cosmo Graham and Moazzem Hossain
3. Australian telecommunications reform: Chasing a kangaroo with a butterfly net 63
Allan Brown and Justin Malbon

PART II ASIA-PACIFIC DEVELOPING NATIONS

4. Indonesia: Telecommunications on a road to reforms 97
Koesmarihati Sugondo and Risa Bhinekawati
5. Malaysia: Telecommunications reform and beyond 119
Cassey Lee
6. The Philippines: Institutionalising a liberal telecommunications regime 139
Rhoda U. Reyes and Ramonette B. Serafica
7. Thailand: The road to telecommunications liberalisation 157
Nittaya Soonthonsiripong

8. Sri Lanka: From telecommunications privatisation to anti-competition? Sisira Jayasuriya and Malathy Knight-John	173
9. Vietnam: Restructuring telecommunications industry Duc-Tho Nguyen, Quoc-Phuong Le and Nhat-Le Tran	195
10. China: Growth and reform in telecommunications Yanrui Wu	217
11. India-Singapore synergy in telecommunications Faizal Yahya	233
Index	253