

Xavier Greffe

Arts and Artists from an Economic Perspective

UNESCO PUBLISHING

7, place Fontenoy, 75007 Paris

63 ECONOMICA

London • Paris • Geneve

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Introduction .....	1
Chapter 1 - The economic footprints of the arts . . . . .	7
A challenge to economic thinking.....	8
Aesthetic value.....	13
Pleasure, emotion and expression - Aesthetic judgement -     Direct and indirect values - Cultural, display and algorithmic     values
Development value: its economic aspect.....	19
From art to creative industries - Art as a producer of new     qualifications - Is artistic production a new method of     managing human relations within an enterprise? - The use     of art to make consumption more attractive
Development value: its social aspect.....	26
Integration by strengthening identity - Art as a creator of     social spaces and social bonds - Productivity or counter-     productivity?
Development value: the regional aspect.....	32
Urban renovation activities - Cultural districts

Activity value: art as the starting point of a chain of activities.....	37
The cultural tourism network: a testimony to the economic importance of art - Ambiguity about the activity value of art
Chapter 2 - An indefinable quality.....	43
From uncertainty to the interpretation of artistic quality	44
Interpretation on the basis of price - Interpretation on the basis of objective differentiation: the label and price list - Interpretation by critics - Interpretation based on conventions
From rationality to dependence on the consumption of artistic goods.....	51
Dependence: stable tastes but increasing productivity of consumption - Learning, frustration and cultural capital
The willingness to pay for artistic services.....	56
The contingent value - The 'Have you got value for your money?' method - The hedonistic price method - The transportation costs method
Indirect demands for cultural goods.....	65
Demand from patrons - Indirect demand from non-artistic enterprises
Chapter 3 - Producers plagued by uncertainties.....	73
Risky products and producers at risk.....	73
Prevalence of risks - Sunk costs and risk multipliers - Can productivity gains solve this problem? - Should risks be trans- ferred to artists? - Should the consumers' surplus be tapped?
Non-profit as the principle underlying artistic institutions.....	84
The growing importance of non-profit institutions - Activities of non-profit institutions
The flexible limits of artistic institutions.....	89
Limitations imposed by artists' contracts on artistic institu- tions - Is the distinction between artistic and other skills quite clear? - The example of the film industry
Marketing of artistic activities.....	95
Fixing artistic prices.....	100
From free services to paid services - Deciding the price - Associated products and museum shops

Chapter 4 - The artist as an entrepreneur of his talents	107
Two paradigms of artistic activity.....	109
From artistic activity as a project to the artist as an entrepreneur of his talents.....	113
Limitations on earnings and options.....	117
Underpayment of artists - The illusion created by superstars - Are artists forced to put up with the situation or do they accept it willingly? - Choice depends on the level of earnings and the type of artistic activity
The search for more flexible earnings.....	124
Copyright and royalties - Economic relevance - The collective management of artistic property rights - The challenge of virtual reality
Chapter 5- Creation and heritage .....	137
How is heritage created?.....	138
Heritage as a convention - Heritage as a destination - The difficulty of ceasing to be heritage - Competition between different types of heritage
Enhancing the value of heritage.....	152
Diffusion, redistribution and inventories - Private and public art collections - The evolution of heritage from exhibitions to stardom - Conservation of industrial heritage
The circulation of movable heritage objects.....	162
Legislation to prevent works of art from leaving the country - Law courts to regulate the entry of works of art - The plundering of national treasures: contemporaneity value or authenticity value?
The price of movable heritage: painting.....	166
The reversal of the price-fixation model - Aesthetic value and market trends: the price of contemporary painting - Is it advisable to invest in works of art?
Proliferation of heritage: copies and fakes.....	175
Copies: from being the lesser evil to stimulating the art market - Fakes: condemned by almost everyone
Chapter 6 - Works of art and cultural industries . . . .	179
The creation of oligopolies and the triumph of marketing.....	181
The oligopoly of music - Oligopoly in the Film Industry

Digitization and the Internet: literary production . . . . .	191
On-line writing - On-line publishing - On-line bookstores
Multimedia groups: have the arts got submerged in entertainment?.....	196
Going from strength to strength - What about the others? - From audio-visual products to subsidiary and derived products: the Disney symbol
What is an artistic product, who is an artist/consumer? ..	202
What are the new challenges before producers? - What are the new challenges before artists?
Chapter 7 - Cultural pessimism or cultural optimism?	207
The cultural pessimism theory.....	208
On the demand side - On the supply side: the Baumol Law and the resultant arguments - Improvement of quality
The cultural optimism theory.....	215
The mirages of public intervention: pseudo redistribution- Contemporary art: an opportunity for creation and squan- dering of public funds - Bureaucratization of artistic activities - The market as a source of creativity
Public governance of artistic activities.....	229
The arts policy in France: the vicissitudes of state control - The arts policy in the United States: the role of the National Endowment for Arts
The different types of artistic policies.....	241
Different types of state intervention - The different public organizations that influence the world of art - Choice of funding methods
Is public governance impervious to globalization?
Cultural exception or cultural diversity?.....	249
Regional integration at work - From cultural exception to cultural diversity
Notes.....	261
Bibliography.....	299
Index.....	307