

IT'S NOT ABOUT THE TECHNOLOGY

Developing the Craft of Thinking for a High Technology Corporation

RAJ KARAMCHEDU

4[^] Springer

CONTENTS

Preface	xi
---------	----

PART ONE: THE THINKING

1	The Problem	5
2	Organized But Dysfunctional	11
3	The Awareness of an Engineer	23
4	Marketing's Choice and Engineering Planning	33
5	Differentiation: A Phenomenon, Not A Concept	43
6	We Relate Before We Differentiate	49
7	Contexts Can Undifferentiate A Product!	57
8	The Semiconductor Company Context	63

PART TWO: THE FORWARD MOVEMENT LATENT IN EXECUTION

9	A Glimpse At The Marketing Context	73
10	The Context of Execution	85

PART THREE: HIGH TECH CONTEXTS - A
SEMICONDUCTOR COMPANY VIEW

11	The Semiconductor Value Chain	103
12	The Product Definition Context	109
13	The Economics Context	121
14	The Customer Context	135
15	The Design-in	147

PART FOUR: THE CRAFT AND THE MINDSET

16	The Requirements Craft	159
17	Manage Expectations	169
18	The Execution Mindset	175
19	Overcoming Technology-centric View	187
20	Marketing is Organized Decision Making	195
	Index	209