

REALITY CHECK

The Distributional Impact of Privatization
in Developing Countries

edited by John Nellis

and Nancy Birdsall

Washington, DC

October 2005

Contents

Preface		vii
1	Privatization Reality Check: Distributional Effects on Developing Countries Nancy Birdsall and John Nellis	1
I	Cases from Latin America
2	Paradox and Perception: Evidence from Four Latin American Countries David McKenzie and Dilip Mookherjee	33
3	Inequality and Welfare Changes: Evidence from Nicaragua Samuel Freije Rodríguez and Luis Rivas	85
4	Bolivian Capitalization and Privatization: Approximation to an Evaluation Gover Barja, David McKenzie, and Miguel Urquiola	123
5	Argentina's Privatization: Effects on Income Distribution Huberto M. Ennis and Santiago M. Pinto	179
6	Peru after Privatization: Are Telephone Consumers Better Off? Máximo Torero, Enrique Schroth, and Alberto Pascó-Font	219
7	Distribution of Assets and Income in Brazil: New Evidence Roberto Macedo	253

8	Latin America's Infrastructure Experience: Policy Gaps and the Poor Antonio Estache	281
II Cases from Asia and Transitional Economies
9	Outcomes of the Russian Model Svetlana Pavlovna Glinkina	297
10	Privatization's Effects on Social Welfare in Ukraine: The SigmaBleyzer Experience Michael Bleyzer, Edilberto Segura, Neal Sigada, Diana Smachtina, and Victor Gekker	325
11	China's Shareholding Reform: Effects on Enterprise Performance Gary H. Jefferson, Su Jian, Jiang Yuan, and Yu Xinhua	353
12	Rethinking Privatization in Sri Lanka: Distribution and Governance Malathy Knight-John and P. P. A. Wasantha Athukorala	389
	About the Contributors	427
	Index	435