

FIFTH EDITION

FUNDAMENTALS OF MARKETING

WILLIAM J. STANTON

PROFESSOR OF MARKETING
UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO

McGRAW-HILL BOOK COMPANY

NEW YORK ST. LOUIS SAN FRANCISCO AUCKLAND BOGOTÁ DÜSSELDÖRF
JOHANNESBURG LONDON MADRID MEXICO MONTREAL NEW DELHI PANAMA
PARIS SÃO PAULO SINGAPORE SYDNEY TOKYO TORONTO

CONTENTS

PREFACE

xv

Part One MODERN MARKETING

1	THE FIELD OF MARKETING	3
	Nature and Scope of Marketing	4
	Historical Development of Marketing	6
	Present-Day Importance of Marketing	7
	The Marketing Concept	10
	Marketing Management and Its Evolution	11
	Broadening the Marketing Concept	15
	Summary	17
2	MARKETING SYSTEMS AND THE MARKETING ENVIRONMENT	19
	Systems Approach to Marketing	20
	External Environment of Marketing Systems	23
	Internal Variables in Marketing Systems	32
	Summary	35
3	A MARKETING INFORMATION SYSTEM AND MARKETING RESEARCH	38
	Need for a Marketing Information System	39
	What Is a Marketing Information System?	40

Benefits and Uses of a Marketing Information System	41
Relationship of Marketing Information Systems and Marketing Research	44
Scope of Marketing Research Activities	46
Procedure in a Marketing Research Investigation	46
Organizational Structure for Marketing Research	59
Status of Marketing Research	59
Summary	61

CASE FOR PART ONE

1 Lavoisier Pipeline Company—The vice-president in charge of de-marketing	64
---	----

Part Two THE MARKET

4 MARKETS AND PEOPLE AND MONEY	71
What Is a Market?	72
Market Segmentation	73
Population—Its Distribution and Composition	76
Consumer Income and Its Distribution	86
Expenditure Patterns	89
Summary	94
5 CULTURAL AND SOCIAL-GROUP INFLUENCES ON BUYER BEHAVIOR	96
Importance and Difficulty of Understanding Consumer Behavior	97
Culture	102
Social Class	106
Small Reference Groups	110
New-Product Adoption and Diffusion	112
Family Buying Behavior	115
Summary	119
6 PSYCHOLOGICAL INFLUENCES ON BUYER BEHAVIOR, THE BUYING-DECISION PROCESS, AND CLASSIFICATION OF CONSUMER GOODS	122
Psychological Determinants of Buyer Behavior	123
Decision-making Process in Buying	131
Toward a Comprehensive Theory of Buyer Behavior	135
Classification of Products	137
Summary	142

7 THE INDUSTRIAL MARKET 144

Nature and Importance of the Industrial Market 145

Classification of Industrial Products 147

Characteristics of Industrial Market Demand 150

Determinants of Industrial Market Demand 153

Summary 161

CASES FOR PART TWO

2 Midget Motors Company—Analysis of a market 163

3 Martin Brothers, Inc.—Analysis of consumer market 166

4 Park Manor Condominium—Analysis of social and psychological market factors 170

Part Three THE PRODUCT

8 PRODUCT PLANNING AND DEVELOPMENT 177

Meaning of the "Product" 178

The Importance of Product Innovation 180

Development of New Product 184

Organizing for Product Innovation 187

Why New Products Fail or Succeed 190

Summary 194

9 PRODUCT-LINE POLICIES AND STRATEGIES 196

Product Line and Product Mix 197

Major Product-Line Strategies 197

Concept of the Product Life Cycle 203

Planned Obsolescence and Fashion 206

Summary 211

10 BRANDS, PACKAGING, AND OTHER PRODUCT FEATURES 214

Influences of Product Features on Business Functions 215

Brands 215

Packaging 222

Labeling 225

Other Image-building Features 227

Summary 229

CASES FOR PART THREE

5 Graham's Pet Food—Introducing a new product against established brands 232

6 Palmer House Flowers and Gifts—Determining the product mix 235

7 Cold Dice—Extending the product life cycle 238

Part Four THE PRICE SYSTEM

11	PRICING OBJECTIVES AND PRICE DETERMINATION	243
	Importance of Price	244
	Meaning of Price	245
	Pricing Objectives	247
	Procedure for Price Determination	250
	Summary	254
12	BASIC METHODS OF SETTING PRICE	257
	Prices Based on Costs	258
	Break-even Analysis	263
	Prices Based on a Balance between Supply and Demand	268
	Prices Set in Relation to Market Alone	270
	Summary	272
13	PRICE POLICIES AND STRATEGIES	275
	Discounts and Allowances	276
	Geographic Price Policies	281
	One-Price versus Variable-Price Policy	282
	Unit Pricing	283
	Price Lining	283
	Resale Price Maintenance	285
	Leader Pricing and Unfair-Practices Acts	286
	Psychological Pricing—Odd Pricing	286
	Price versus Nonprice Competition	287
	Summary	290
	CASES FOR PART FOUR
	8 Hillcrest Products, Inc.—Pricing a new product	292
	9 The Argentine Drug Caper—Costs, prices, and profits	294
	10 Wilson Electronics, Inc.—Price determination	296
	11 Adolph Coors Company—Pricing strategy for by-products	299

Part Five DISTRIBUTION STRUCTURE

14	THE RETAIL MARKET AND RETAILING INSTITUTIONS	307
	Middlemen and Channels of Distribution	308
	Nature of Retail Market	310
	Retailers Classified by Size of Store	316
	Retailers Classified by Product Lines	319
	Retailers Classified by Form of Ownership	321

Retailers Classified by Method of Operation	327
The Future in Retailing	332
Summary	334
15 THE WHOLESALE MARKET AND WHOLESALING MIDDLEMEN	337
Nature and Importance of Wholesaling	338
Regular, or Full-Service, Wholesalers	345
Agent Wholesaling Middlemen	348
Summary	351
16 CHANNELS OF DISTRIBUTION: CONFLICT, COOPERATION, AND MANAGEMENT	354
Conflicts and Cooperation in Distribution Channels	356
Selecting Channels of Distribution	364
Determining Intensity of Distribution	370
Selecting and Working with Individual Middlemen	371
Legal Considerations in Channel Management	373
Summary	375
17 MANAGEMENT OF PHYSICAL DISTRIBUTION	378
Importance of Physical Distribution Management	379
Total System Concept of Physical Distribution	379
The Effective Use of Physical Distribution	382
Major Tasks in Physical Distribution Management	384
The Future in Physical Distribution	391
Summary	391
CASES FOR PART FIVE
12 th Del Mar Jewelry Manufacturing Company, Inc.— Conflict in distribution channels at retail level	394
13 Clarkson Cold Products Company—Selection of channels of distribution for new product	397
14 P. M. Austin Company—Selection of channels of distribution	399
15 Favored Blend Coffee Company—Appraising and improving a physical distribution system	403

Part Six PROMOTIONAL ACTIVITIES

18 THE PROMOTIONAL PROGRAM	409
Nature and Importance of Promotion	410
The Communications Process	412

The Campaign Concept	414
Determination of Promotional Mix	416
Determination of Total Promotional Appropriation	422
Regulation of Promotional Activities	424
Summary	426
19 MANAGEMENT OF PERSONAL SELLING	429
Nature and Importance of Personal Selling	430
Operation of a Sales Force	433
Evaluation of Sales Force Performance	438
The Personal Selling Process	440
Reasons for the Shortage of Qualified Sales People	444
Summary	445
20 MANAGEMENT OF ADVERTISING AND SALES PROMOTION	447
Nature and Importance of Advertising	448
Development of an Advertising Campaign	454
Evaluation of Advertising Program	456
Organizing for Advertising	458
Sales Promotion	459
Summary	460
CASES FOR PART SIX
16 Gold Seal Vineyards, Inc.—Planning a promotional program	463
17 Florists' Association—Promotion to reverse declining primary demand	468
18 Colorado's Regional Transportation District (RTD) —Promotional program for urban mass transportation systems	470
19 Stolz Sauna Company—Evaluating and revising an advertising program	473

Part Seven MARKETING IN SPECIAL FIELDS

21 MARKETING OF SERVICES	481
Nature and Importance	482
The Marketing Concept and Service Marketing	488
A Program for Marketing of Services	489
Future Outlook in Service Marketing	493
Summary	495
22 INTERNATIONAL MARKETING	498
Importance of International Marketing	499

Alternative Orientations toward International Operations	502
Structure for Operating in Foreign Markets	503
Problems in Developing an International Company	504
Developing an International Marketing Program	505
International Trade Balances	516
Summary	519

CASES FOR PART SEVEN

20 American Federated Insurance Company—Organizing and motivating insurance sales people to sell a new line	522
21 Levi Strauss & Company—Production and distribution for international markets	525

Part Eight PLANNING AND EVALUATING THE MARKETING EFFORT

23 MARKETING PLANNING, FORECASTING, AND EVALUATION	533
Managing the Marketing System	534
Planning in Theory and Practice	534
Forecasting Market Demand	536
Evaluating Marketing Performance	542
Analysis of Sales Volume	546
Marketing Cost Analysis	548
Summary	553
24 CONSUMERISM AND SOCIALLY ORIENTED MARKETING	555
Consumerism	556
Emerging Social Orientation in Marketing	566
Social Responsibilities of Marketing Management	567
Summary	574
25 MARKETING: APPRAISAL AND PROSPECT	576
Evaluation of Our Marketing System	577
Government's Role in Marketing	582
Marketing in the 1980s	584
Broadening the Marketing Concept	590
Summary	592

CASES FOR PART EIGHT

22 Worthington Department Stores—Meeting competitors' "bait and switch" promotional strategy	594
--	-----

23 The Cho-Colato Company—Returnable versus throw-away containers: social and business issues	598
APPENDIX: MARKETING ARITHMETIC	602
The Operating Statement	605
Markups	608
Analytical Ratios	611
INDEXES	619
Name Index	621
Subject Index	627