

World Scientific Series on Energy and Resource Economics - Vol. 5

Natural Gas Networks Performance After Partial Deregulation

Five Quantitative Studies

Paul MacAvoy

Yale University, USA

Vadim Marmer

University of British Columbia, Canada

Nickolay Moshkin

Cornerstone Research, USA

Dmitry Shapiro

University of North Carolina Charlotte, USA

World Scientific

Contents

Preface

1	Introduction	1
2	Quantitative Study Number One: Regional Markets for Gas Transmission Services	13
3	Quantitative Study Number Two: Competition Among the few in the Natural Gas Pipelines Industry After Partial Deregulation	33

4	Quantitative Study Number Three: The Basis Differentials as a Measure of Performance in Partially Deregulated Pipeline Transportation Markets	97
5	Quantitative Study Number Four: > Probability of natural gas storage resulting from federal deregulation	131
6	Quantitative Study Number Five: Revising the model of gas wellhead prices and quantities for deregulation	173
	Index	205