

Popular Protest in China

Edited by

Kevin J. O'Brien

Harvard University Press

Cambridge, Massachusetts

London, England 2008

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Prologue: The New Contentious Politics in China: Poor and Blank or Rich and Complex? Sidney Tarrow	1
Introduction: Studying Contention in Contemporary China Kevin J. O'Brien and Rachel E. Stern	11
1. Student Movements in China and Taiwan Teresa Wright	26
2. Collective Petitioning and Institutional Conversion Xi Chen	54
3. Mass Frames and Worker Protest William Hurst	71
4. Worker Leaders and Framing Factory-Based Resistance Feng Chen	88
5. Recruitment to Protestant House Churches Carsten T. Vala and Kevin J. O'Brien	108
6. Contention in Cyberspace Guobin Yang	126
7. Environmental Campaigns Yanfei Sun and Dingxin Zhao	144

8. Disruptive Collective Action in the Reform Era	163
Yongshun Cai
9. Manufacturing Dissent in Transnational China	179
Patricia M. Thornton
10. Permanent Rebellion? Continuities and Discontinuities in Chinese Protest	205
Elizabeth J. Perry
Notes	217
Contributors	275