

On Adam Smith's Wealth of Nations

A Philosophical Companion

Samuel Fleischacker

PRINCETON UNIVERSITY PRESS

Princeton and Oxford

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	xi
Abbreviations	xiii
Introduction	xv
 PART I
Methodology
CHAPTER ONE Literary Method	3
1. Obstacles to Reading Smith	4
2. Rhetoric	12
3. Genre	15
4. Style and Philosophical Method	19
CHAPTER TWO Epistemology and Philosophy of Science	27
5. Epistemology	27
6. Philosophy of Science	31
7. Philosophy of Social Science	34
8. Types of Evidence	36
9. Providentialism	44
CHAPTER THREE Moral Philosophy	46
10. Moral Sentimentalism	46
11. The Wealth of Nations and Moral Philosophy	48
12. A Moral Assessment of Capitalism?	55
 PART II
Human Nature
CHAPTER FOUR Overview	61
13. Philosophy and the Theory of Human Nature	61
14. Smith's Picture of Human Nature	66
15. Religious Sentiments	70
16. Impartiality and Equality	72
17. Culture and History	80
18. From Homo Moralis to Homo Economicus	82
CHAPTER FIVE Self-interest	84
19. WN in Context	84
20. "Bettering One's Condition" in WN II.iii	87
21. Self-love in WN I.ii	90
22. Self-interest versus "General Benevolence"	95
23. Self-interest as an Assumption in WN	97
24. Smith and Hobbes: A Response to Cropsey	100

CHAPTER Six	Vanity	104
25.	Vanity in TMS IVi	105
26.	TMS IVi in the Light of WN	108
27.	TMS IVi and the 1790 Edition of TMS	112
28.	The Importance of Vanity	115
29.	From Homo Moralis to Homo Economicus (Reprise)	118

PART III

Foundations of Economics

CHAPTER SEVEN	Foundations of Economics	123
30.	Natural Price/Market Price	123
31.	Real Price/Nominal Price; Labor Theory of Value	124
32.	The Long Term versus the Short; Growth versus Allocation; Definition of Wealth	131
33.	Productive and Unproductive Labor	134
34.	The Invisible Hand	138

PART IV

Justice

CHAPTER EIGHT	A Theory of Justice?	145
35.	Some Puzzles about Smith's Treatment of Justice	145
36.	Smith's Different Accounts of Justice	148
37.	A First Argument for the Precision of Rules of Justice	153
38.	Critical Jurisprudence and the Problems in Defining "Harm"	158
39.	A Second Argument for the Precision of Rules of Justice	161
40.	Reconstructing Smith's Theory of Natural Justice	166
41.	Smith's Critical Jurisprudence in LJ and WN	169
CHAPTER NINE	Property Rights	174
42.	Property as Central to Justice	174
43.	Utilitarian Accounts of Property	178
44.	Locke, Hutcheson, and Hume on "Original" Ownership	180
45.	Smith on "Original" Ownership	185
46.	Property in WN	192
47.	Taxation and Property Rights	193
48.	Inheritance and Property Rights	197
49.	Redistribution and Property Rights	200
CHAPTER TEN	Distributive Justice	203
50.	Two Meanings for "Distributive Justice"	203
51.	Smith's Contribution to the Politics of Poverty	205
52.	A Brief History of Distributive Justice	209
53.	The Right of Necessity	215
54.	Smith and Natural Law Views of Property	221

PART V

Politics

CHAPTER ELEVEN Politics

- 55. Moral Vices of Politicians
- 56. Cognitive Vices of Politicians
- 57. Problems with the "Private Sector"
- 58. Law over Policy; Well-designed Institutions
- 59. Republics versus Monarchies; Civic Republicanism
- 60. National Glory; War
- 61. Conclusion

Epilogue

CHAPTER TWELVE Learning from Smith Today

Notes

Index Locorum

General Index