

JUSTICE ACROSS
BOUNDARIES: WHOSE OBLIGATIONS?

ONORA O'NEILL

CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

Acknowledgements	page vii
Introduction	i
PART I HUNGER ACROSS BOUNDARIES	11
1 Lifeboat Earth	13
2 Rights, obligations and world hunger	29
3 Rights to compensation	43
PART II JUSTIFICATIONS ACROSS BOUNDARIES	59
4 Justice and boundaries	61
5 Ethical reasoning and ideological pluralism	79
6 Bounded and cosmopolitan justice	99
7 Pluralism, positivism and the justification of human rights	120
PART III ACTION ACROSS BOUNDARIES	135
8 From Edmund Burke to twenty-first-century human rights: abstraction, circumstances and globalisation	137
9 From statist to global conceptions of justice	151
10 Global justice: whose obligations?	160
11 Agents of justice	177
12 The dark side of human rights	193

PART IV HEALTH ACROSS BOUNDARIES	2C>9
13 Public health or clinical ethics: thinking beyond borders	211
14 Broadening bioethics: clinical ethics, public health and global health	225
Index	239