Philipp Albert Theodor Kircher

Poverty Reduction Strategies

A comparative study applied to empirical research

PETER LANG
Europaischer Verlag der Wissenschaften

Table of Contents

| LIST OF ABBREVIATIONS |                                                                                                                      |          |  |
|-----------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------|--|
| LIS                   | ST OF FIGURES                                                                                                        | XIII     |  |
| LIS                   | ST OF TABLES                                                                                                         | XIV      |  |
| LIS                   | LIST OF ANNEXES                                                                                                      |          |  |
| 1.                    | Introduction                                                                                                         | 1        |  |
|                       | 1.1. Aim of the Analysis                                                                                             | 1        |  |
|                       | 1.2. Examination Procedure                                                                                           | 3        |  |
|                       | 1.3. Strategies Reviewed in the Analysis                                                                             | 6        |  |
|                       | 1.4. The Role of Poverty Reduction: Poverty Reduction vs. Other Developmental Goals                                  | 9        |  |
| 2.                    | Poverty Reduction as Focal Point of Development Cooperation: The                                                     |          |  |
|                       | International Consensus                                                                                              | 19       |  |
|                       | 2.1. The Evolution Towards the Current Consensus                                                                     | 19       |  |
|                       | 2.1.1. Overview                                                                                                      | 19       |  |
|                       | 2.1.2. Growth                                                                                                        | 20       |  |
|                       | 2.1.3. Redistribution with Growth                                                                                    | 21       |  |
|                       | 2.1.4. Basic Needs Approach                                                                                          | 26       |  |
|                       | 2.1.5. Free Market Forces                                                                                            | 30       |  |
|                       | 2.2. Today's Understanding of Poverty Reduction                                                                      | 34       |  |
|                       | 2.3. Poverty Definitions beyond Monetary Income                                                                      | 3737 |  |
|                       | 2.3.1. Conceptual Dimensions of Poverty Definitions                                                                  | 3739 |  |
|                       | 2.3.2. The Current Poverty Definition                                                                                | 3941 |  |
|                       | <ul><li>2.3.3. International Development Targets</li><li>2.4. The Domestic Framework for Poverty Reduction</li></ul> | 47       |  |
|                       | 2.4.1. Economic Framework                                                                                            | 4747 |  |
|                       | 2.4.1.1 Growth and Equality                                                                                          | 47       |  |
|                       | 2.4.1.2. The Economic Incentive System                                                                               | 51       |  |
|                       | 2.4.1.3. Creating Economic Opportunities                                                                             | 56       |  |
|                       | 2.4.1.3.1. Poor People's Assets                                                                                      | 56       |  |
|                       | 2.4.1.3.2. Access to Markets                                                                                         | 68       |  |
|                       | 2.4.1.4. Excursion into Infrastructure Investment                                                                    | 71       |  |
|                       | 2.4.2. Necessary Political Condition                                                                                 | 77       |  |
|                       | 2.4.2.1. Linkages Between Political Conditions and                                                                   |          |  |
|                       | Economic Issues                                                                                                      | 77       |  |
|                       | 2.4.2.2. Empowerment                                                                                                 | 78       |  |
|                       | 2.4.2.2.1. Human Rights and Equality                                                                                 | 78       |  |
|                       | 2.4.2.2.2. Participation                                                                                             | 85       |  |
|                       | 2.4.2.2.3. Democratization                                                                                           | 91       |  |

|    |                                       | 2.4.2.3. Good Governance                   |                         | 95  |  |
|----|---------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|-------------------------|-----|--|
|    |                                       | 2.4.2.3.1. The Concept                     |                         | 95  |  |
|    |                                       | 2.4.2.3.2. Accountability                  | , Decentralization and  |     |  |
|    |                                       | Transparency                               |                         | 97  |  |
|    |                                       | 2.4.2.3.3. Stemming Co.                    | ruption                 | 100 |  |
|    |                                       | 2.4.2.3.4. Rule of Law a                   | nd Accessibility of the |     |  |
|    |                                       | Law                                        | •                       | 102 |  |
|    |                                       | 2.4.3. Measures to Provide Security for    | Poor People             | 107 |  |
|    |                                       | 2.4.3.1. The Need for Security             | •                       | 107 |  |
|    |                                       | 2.4.3.2. The Role of Private vs. St        | tate Security Provision | 110 |  |
|    |                                       | 2.4.3.3. Measures of State Securit         | ty Provision            | 112 |  |
|    |                                       | 2.4.4. Comprehensiveness or Excessive      | ness?                   | 120 |  |
|    | 2.5.                                  | International Regimes                      |                         | 121 |  |
|    | X                                     | 2.5.1. International Institutional Framev  | vork                    | 121 |  |
|    |                                       | 2.5.1.1. Trade                             |                         | 122 |  |
|    |                                       | 2.5.1.2. Finance                           |                         | 126 |  |
|    |                                       | 2.5.1.3. Environment                       |                         | 129 |  |
|    |                                       | 2.5.2. The Donor Community                 |                         | 135 |  |
|    |                                       | 2.5.2.1. The Meaning of Partners           | hip: Ownership,         |     |  |
|    | Conditionality and Political Dialogue |                                            |                         |     |  |
|    |                                       | 2.5.2.2. Donor Responsibilities: I         | Oonor Coordination,     |     |  |
|    |                                       | Cooperation and Policy C                   | Coherence               | 139 |  |
|    |                                       | 2.5.2.3. Knowledge, Alliances an           | d Awareness Raising     | 141 |  |
|    | 2.6.                                  | Synopsis: Novelties and Challenges of      | the New Strategic       |     |  |
|    |                                       | Conception                                 |                         | 143 |  |
|    | 2.7.                                  | . Initiated Reforms                        |                         | 145 |  |
| 3. | Dif                                   | fering Accentuations                       |                         | 151 |  |
|    |                                       | . Merits and Difficulties of Differing Foc | al Points               | 151 |  |
|    |                                       | . The World Bank                           |                         | 154 |  |
|    |                                       | 3.2.1. World Bank Background               |                         | 154 |  |
|    |                                       | 3.2.2. Insights on Political Systems and   | Coalitions              | 155 |  |
|    |                                       | 3.2.3. National Security Schemes           |                         | 157 |  |
|    |                                       | 3.2.4. Concerns for Macroeconomic Po       | licy and Inequality     | 161 |  |
|    |                                       | 3.2.5. Reservation with Human Rights       |                         | 161 |  |
|    | 3.3.                                  | . United Kingdom                           | •                       | 163 |  |
|    |                                       | 3.3.1. UK's Background on Developme        | ent Assistance          | 163 |  |
|    |                                       | 3.3.2. Concentration                       |                         | 164 |  |
|    |                                       | 3.3.3. International Development Targe     | ets and Impact          |     |  |
|    |                                       | Measurement                                | •                       | 167 |  |
|    |                                       | 3.3.4. Knowledge                           |                         | 169 |  |
|    |                                       | 3.3.5. Globalization                       |                         | 169 |  |
|    |                                       | 3.3.6. New Strategic Areas: Water Scar     | city and the Urban Poor | 172 |  |
|    |                                       | 3.3.7. Long-term vs. Short-term Benefi     | •                       | 175 |  |

|            | 3.4. Germany                                                  | 177 |
|------------|---------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
|            | 3.4.1. Germany's Background on Development Assistance         | 177 |
|            | 3.4.2. Support for Middle-income Countries                    | 181 |
|            | 3.4.3. Peace and Conflict Prevention                          | 182 |
|            | 3.4.4. Agrarian Development                                   | 184 |
|            | 3.4.5. Environmental Implications of Energy Supply            | 185 |
|            | 3.4.6. Alliances within Industrialized Nations                | 186 |
|            | 3.5. Sweden                                                   | 189 |
|            | 3.5.1. The Background of Sweden's Development Cooperation     | 189 |
|            | 3.5.2. Knowledge and Education                                | 191 |
|            | 3.5.3. Disabled People and Marginalized Groups                | 194 |
|            | 3.5.4. NGOs                                                   | 195 |
|            | 3.5.4. Conditionality                                         | 196 |
|            | 3.6. Accentuations: Benefits or Hindrance?                    | 197 |
|            | 3.7. Consolidation: Consensus and Accentuations               | 198 |
|            | 3.7.1. Consensus on Three Levels                              | 199 |
|            | 3.7.2. Stronger Accentuations with Decreasing Level of        |     |
|            | Abstraction                                                   | 201 |
|            | 3.7.3. Synopsis of the New Consensus and its Accentuations    | 203 |
| 4.         | Implications for Project Evaluations                          | 207 |
|            | 4.1. Increasing Importance of Impact Measurement              | 207 |
|            | 4.2. Background: The German Financial Cooperation and the KfW | 208 |
|            | 4.3. Aim of the Empirical Study                               | 214 |
|            | 4.4. Study Design                                             | 215 |
|            | 4.4.1. Variables                                              | 216 |
|            | 4.4.2. Sampling Procedure                                     | 219 |
|            | 4.5. Findings :                                               | 220 |
|            | 4.5.1. Procedure of Analysis                                  | 220 |
|            | 4.5.2. Quantitative Analysis                                  | 221 |
|            | 4.5.3. Qualitative Analysis                                   | 231 |
|            | 4.6. Discussion of the Findings                               | 234 |
|            | 4.7. Recommendations                                          | 237 |
|            | 4.8. Synopsis of the Empirical Study                          | 238 |
| 5.         | Concluding Remarks                                            | 241 |
| ΔN         | NEX                                                           | 243 |
| REFERENCES |                                                               | 261 |
|            |                                                               | _01 |