CONTENTS

vi. Preparation of the ritual enclosure and masks, 170
vii. The first assumption of the peda, 176 viii. Ritual roles at ida, 177
ix. The eli sabbra (cassowaries), 179
x. The aba dancers and the yis ceremony, 184
xi. Ulateh, 186
xii. The ahoragwaiia tamwa and the tetagwana tamwa, 186 xiii. Subsidiary figures, 194
xiv. Awsego, 199
xv. The second day and conclusion (amov), 202 -
xvi. Theipele bowmen, 204

5. ANALYSIS OF THE 'iDA* RITUAL 209
i. Introduction - the interpretation of ritual, 209
ii. The model, 215
iii. Ida and fertility, 218
iv. The cassowaries, 224
v. The attributes of the eli, 230
vi. Man into tree, 237
vii. The cassowaries and their metamorphosis, 243 viii. The ritual of transitions, 245
ix. The nemesis of reproductivity, 252
x. The rotten tree, 255
xi. Fish and coconuts, 257
xii. The black and the red, 265 xiii. Ahoragwaiia and Tetagwana, 267
xiv. Symbolism of the tamwa masks, 269
xv. The manipulated augury, 273
xvi. The amov - termites, 277 xvii. The subsidiary figures, 280 xviii. Breadfruit and coconut (theipele), 284
xix. Attributes of theipele, 289
xx. The transformations of mask-types, 297
xxi. Colour symbolism, 308
xxii. The symbolic representation of time, 329

APPENDIX: THE PUL-TOD MYTH 347

LIST OF WORKS CITED 360

INDEX 363