

Action and Its Environments

Toward a New Synthesis

Jeffrey C. Alexander

Columbia University Press

NEW YORK 1988

C

Contents

Preface ix

Acknowledgments xi

Introduction i

PART I

The Problem Stated

ONE Social-Structural Analysis: Presuppositions,
Ideologies, Empirical Debates ii

PART II

Structure, Action, and Differentiation

TWO Durkheim's Problem and Differentiation Theory Today 49

THREE Core Solidarity, Ethnic Outgroup,
and Social Differentiation 78

FOUR The Mass News Media in Systemic, Historical, and Comparative Perspective 107

FIVE Three Models of Culture and Society Relations:
Toward an Analysis of Watergate 153

SIX The University and Morality 175

PART III

The Micro-Macro Link

SEVEN Social Differentiation and Collective Behavior
(with Paul Colomy) 193

EIGHT	The Individualist Dilemma in Phenomenology and Interactionism	222
NINE	From Reduction to Linkage: The Long View of the Micro-Macro Debate (with Bernhard Giesen)	257

PART IV

The Problem Restated

TEN	Action and Its Environments	301
-----	-----------------------------	-----

	Index	335
--	-------	-----