

CATALOGING AND ORGANIZING DIGITAL RESOURCES: A HOW-TO-DO-IT MANUAL FOR LIBRARIANS

Anne M. Mitchell and
Brian E. Surratt

facet publishing

CONTENTS

List of Figures and Tables	ix
Preface	xi
Acknowledgments	xv
1. Thinking about the Organization of Digital Resources	1
Introduction	1
Managing Online Resources from External Information Providers	1
Work-Flow Comparison	2
Collection Development	5
Acquisition	13
Administration	15
Bibliographic Control and the Work Flow	18
Special Considerations for Local Digital Libraries	18
What Is a Digital Library?	19
Planning for Digital Collections	20
Digital Library Processes	22
Resources Required to Develop a Digital Library	31
Dublin Core	34
Summary	36
References	36
Bibliography of Digital Library Resources	37
2. Establishing the Cataloging Work Flow	41
Introduction	41
New Cataloging	42
Individual Records	42
Record Sets	45
– Record Maintenance	48

Reviewing Records	48
Updating Records	49
Summary	50
Reference	50
3. Exploring Alternatives to Cataloging	51
Introduction	51
Web Lists	51
Background	52
Limitations	53
Implementing Web lists	54
Context-Sensitive Linking	55
Background	56
Limitations	58
Implementing Context-Sensitive Linking	58
Federated Searching	60
Background	61
Limitations	63
Implementing Federated Searching	67
Summary	68
References	69
4. Determining Bibliographic Control in the Online Environment	71
Introduction	71
Characteristics Affecting Bibliographic Control ...	71
Scale and Structure	72
Dynamic Content	73
Dynamic Functionality	74
Managing Multiple Bibliographic Tools	74
Building a Bibliographic Strategy	76
Information Retrieval	76
Access to Collections	79
Management Needs	82
Summary	84
References	85

5. Understanding Cataloging Rules and Guidelines	87
Introduction	87
Record Content	87
Cataloging Rules	88
Rule Interpretations	88
Cooperative Cataloging	89
Related Documentation	89
Content Designation	90
MARC Records	90
Cooperative Cataloging	91
Local Guidelines	91
Summary	92
References	92
6. Analyzing the Bibliographic Structure of
Online Resources	95
Introduction	95
Definition of Online Resource	96
Bibliographic Characteristics	96
Significant Bibliographic Aspect	97
Type of Issuance	97
Sources of Information	99
Born Digital versus Reproduction	99
Type of Record Code	103
Bibliographic-Level Code	104
MARC 21 Workform	104
Information about Our Examples	105
Summary	105
References	106
7. Online Monographs: E-books and Manuscripts	107
Introduction	107
Long Example: Born-Digital
Monograph	107
Bibliographic Characteristics	107
Coding the MARC 21 Record for a Born-
Digital Monograph	109

Short Example: Online Reproduction	121
Bibliographic Characteristics	121
Coding the MARC 21 Record for an Online Reproduction	122
Short Example: Resources That are Traditionally Unpublished	125
Bibliographic Characteristics	125
Coding the MARC 21 Record for Resources That are Traditionally Unpublished	127
Summary	130
References	131

8. Online Serials: E-journals and Periodicals in Aggregator

Databases	133
Introduction	133
Long Example: Born-Digital, Online-Only Serial	134
Bibliographic Characteristics	134
Coding the MARC 21 Record for a Born- Digital, Online-Only Serial	136
Short Example: Online Journal Also Issued in Print (Single-Record Approach)	148
Bibliographic Characteristics	148
Coding the MARC 21 Record Using the Single-Record Approach	150
Short Example: Online Journal Also Issued in Print (Separate-Record Approach)	151
Coding the MARC 21 Record Using the Separate-Record Approach	151
Leaders	151
Short Example: Aggregator-Neutral Record	155
Bibliographic Characteristics	161
Coding the MARC 21 Record Using the Aggregator-Neutral Record	161
Short Example: Online Serial with a Title Change	165
Bibliographic Characteristics	165

Coding the MARC 21 Record for an Online Serial with a Title Change	166
Short Example: Serial Discontinued in Print, Continued Online	171
Bibliographic Characteristics	171
Coding the MARC 21 Record for Serial Discontinued in Print, Continued Online	172
Summary	176
References	177
9. Online Integrating Resources: Databases and Web Sites . . .	179
Introduction	179
Long Example: Continuously Updating Web Site	180
Bibliographic Characteristics	180
Coding the MARC 21 Record for a Continuously Updating Web Site	182
Short Example: Frequency and Regularity Are Unknown	190
Bibliographic Characteristics	190
Coding the MARC 21 Record When the Frequency and Regularity Are Unknown	192
Short Example: Computer File MARC 21 Format	195
Bibliographic Characteristics	197
Coding the MARC 21 Record Using the Computer File MARC 21 Format . . .	197
Summary	201
References	202
10. Online Trends to Watch	203
Open Access	203
Impact on Library Work Flows	204
Sustainability	205

*Functional Requirements for Bibliographic
Records (FRBR)*206

 Significance of the FRBR Model207

References208

Index209

About the Authors219