

*Critical International Relations
Theory after 25 years*

Edited- by Nicholas Rengger and Ben Thirkell-White

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

Critical International Relations Theory after 25 years

CONTENTS

Preface	v
NICHOLAS RENGGER AND BEN THIRKELL-WHITE
Notes on contributors	1
Editors' Introduction	3
NICHOLAS RENGGER AND BEN THIRKELL-WHITE
Looking back from somewhere: reflections on what remains 'critical' in critical theory	25
FRIEDRICH KRATOCHWIL
Transnational theories of order and change: heterodoxy in International Relations scholarship	47
RONEN PALAN
Happy Anniversary! Time and critique in International Relations theory	71
KIMBERLY HUTCHINGS
Is critical theory always for the White West and for Western imperialism? Beyond Westphalian towards a post-racist critical IR	91
JOHN M. HOBSON
The promise of critical IR, partially kept	117
CRATG N. MURPHY
Towards a sociology of global morals with an 'emancipatory intent'	135
ANDREW LINKLATER
Between Kant and Pufendorf: humanitarian intervention, statist anti-cosmopolitanism and critical international theory	151
RICHARD DEVETAK
Index	175